Dist. 34 predicts an aid loss of $91,000

by GLORIA DAVIS

One of the most important bits of news reported at the last regular meeting of Antioch Grade School Dist. 34 Board of Education came from Supt. Donald Skidmore who refuted a daily newspaper article that claimed that Gov. Thompson's state aid reductions would only cost Dist. 34 $4,000.

Skidmore said that, if Thompson's school aid vetoes were not reversed, the actual losses to the school district would add up to $91,000.

He listed losses in general aid at $4,000; elementary aid at $54,000; special ed personnel at $7,000; school foods at $500; regular transportation at $18,000; special ed transportation at $6,000 and special ed services at $1,500.

The board also passed a levy of $3,224,660 for the 1987 school year. Last year's levy was $2,923,902. This will show as a 3.2 cents per $100 of property valuation increase on district resident's property tax bills. The budget hearing is slated for Tuesday, Sept. 8.

In other business:

— the board heard that the roof at Oakland School is complete with the exception of the flashing and the deck over the front entrance. The deck, which was rusted, is being replaced for $3,000. The flashing was expected to be completed at press time.

— approved a renewal of the agreement between the board and the Teen Canteen to use the Antioch Upper Grade facilities again on 33 Friday evenings during the school year.

— accepted the resignations of teachers Cynthia Patterson, Antioch Lower Grade, and Diana Deatherage, Oakland.

— agreed to hire Kim Kleisner to teach third grade at Oakland at $17,200 and Carla Beseman to teach at Antioch Lower Grade at $17,705.

— accepted the bids from Lake to Lake for milk; Burlington Wholesale, Fox River Foods and Railton-Sysco Food Services for canned goods.

Antioch misses swindle as developer arrested

Not since Woody Kelly of Antioch allegedly bilked area investors of $6 million two years ago has such an accused con man been found in Lake County, that is until the appearance of developer Thomas McManus.

McManus is presently being held in Lake County jail on a $750,000 bond, on charges of land swindles allegedly perpetrated in other parts of Illinois, Florida, South Dakota, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

Reports have McManus' arrest just in the nick of time for Antioch investors since he reportedly had opened an office in Antioch with plans to sell lots and develop the Willows subdivision on North Ave. already mapped out in local advertisements. The office closed the day he turned himself in to Lake County authorities.

Antioch Village Clerk Marilyn Sterbenz said that the owner of the property on North Ave., Frank Blazewich, from Northshore Cadillac, had told village officials that he would be going through the proper steps in the developing just a day before the news of McManus' arrest was revealed.

Lake County State's Atty. Mike Waller says that no investor in the Willows has shown up.

Waller added that the state's attorney's office is busy interviewing people, between 60 and 70 couples, who had reportedly given

McManus, through his Great American Homes office in Vernon Hills, $10,000 or more as a down payment on homes to be built in the Gagewood subdivision on Washington St. in Warren Twp.

McManus had been arrested on outstanding warrants two weeks ago by Vernon Hills authorities. He posted $2,000 on a $20,000 bond.

He turned himself back into authorities as more charges arose early last week.

He is reported to have jumped a $20,000 bond in Minnesota for theft by swindling over $2,500. There are also arrest warrants out for him for theft by tricks in Florida and for felony check fraud in South Dakota. He also reportedly is being charged with passing a bad check at a car dealership in Naperville.

Waller said that the investigation of McManus' developing activities in Lake County is a slow painful investigation, comprised of record searching and analysis and many interviews of complainants.

Dick Brown of Cambridge Homes in Libertyville is looking into the legal ramifications of possibly taking over some of the homes in Gagewood and completing their construction for people whose loans have been approved.

"We're investigating this idea and trying to find out if we can complete the home for the approved mortgage amounts," said Brown.

Scouts canoe 50 miles in Minnesota waters

Seventeen scouts and leaders from Antioch's Boy Scouts of America Troop 92 completed a memorable 50 mile canoe trip in Minnesota's Boundary Waters Canoe Area northeast of Ely, Minn.

One of America's most undeveloped and primitive areas, Boundary Waters borders Canada's Quetico Provincial Park and is located in Minnesota's Superior National Forest.

It offers 2,500 miles of canoe routes through hundreds of lakes connected by rivers and portage trails.

Supplied by Canadian Border Outfitters of Ely, Troop 92 canoed as two groups because regulations permit no more than 10 people in a campsite.

On their first day the troop paddled Moose Lake to the Canadian Customs station and then east where they camped and fished on Knife Lake.

They began their second day with five portages that varied between 15 and 75 rods each. Due to unusually high water which flooded the fourth portage, canoes had to be carefully towed up swift moving rapids.

The group helped other canoeists with their portage. The remainder of the day was spent fishing, swimming and relaxing.

On day three, the groups met overcast skies and periods of heavy rain as they completed challenging 180 and 200 rod portages over rocky and slippery paths.

They spent the rest of that day searching for suitable campsites on Ensign Lake and drying their clothes.

First fog and then sunshine greeted the two scout groups on their fourth day as they moved west from Ensign Lake through an easy 30 rod portage into Newfound Lake and back through Moose Lake where they ended their trip with a steak dinner at Canadian Border Outfitters.

During the trip the troop enjoyed beautiful forested background and wildlife, especially gulls and loons which swam close to the canoeists.

A family of four otter was spotted fishing the shoreline one morning, and a pair of Fishers (marten family) were seen near a campsite another morning.

Although no bears were seen, a bear passed through one campsite at night and left claw marks on one of the trees from which food bags were suspended.

Father and son Bill and Steve Goetzelman along with John Harting caught the longest fish; the individuals who caught the smallest and fewest fish wish to remain anonymous.

Everyone agreed that the trip was exciting, challenging and a true test of scouting skills. Most wanted to stay longer.

In order to participate in this high adventure trip, scouts were required to make sufficient progress toward advancement or complete merit badge requirements.

The scouts who attended were Eric Anderson, Matt Aschbacher, Gene Brown, James Bruski, Steve Goetzelman, John Harting, Brian Paschke, Dave Stachel, and Daniel and Dave Westing. Eagle Scouts Brian Clark and Phil Hettich also participated, usually canoeing well ahead of others to locate portages or campsites.

The leaders included Scoutmaster Bernie Dost, committee Chairman Harold Clark, Assistant Scoutmasters Jay Bruski and Bill Goetzelman, and committee member Paul Hettich. Troop 92 is sponsored by Loyal Order of Moose Lodge 525.

Catholic Knights will sponsor patient transplant benefit

The Active Adults of Tomorrow (AAOT), a youth group from St. Peter's Parish, Antioch, will help a Racine woman receive a liver transplant.

They will co-sponsor a fund-raising car wash with Catholic Knights Insurance Society Branch 151-Kenosha.

The car wash will be on Aug. 29, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Water Tower on Orchard and Toft streets, Antioch.

Shelly Wirtz, 31, of Racine, was diagnosed with primary biliary cirrhosis, a rare and fatal liver disease. This diagnosis occurred in 1983. Doctors told Wirtz that she would need a transplant in 15 to 20 years.

In June, she was told that her condition had worsened. Wirtz has less than six months to live if she does not receive a transplant.

This mother of two must be able to prove that she has $200,000 before she will be considered for the operation.

The across-the-border connection between Antioch, Kenosha and Racine occurred by chance.

"One of the girls in AAOT is from Bristol. She worked with Mrs. Wirtz in the same restaurant," said Bob Gagnon, deacon at St. Peter's Parish.

"The girl said Mrs. Wirtz was very sweet to work with, and when she became sick, our member wanted to do something. She approached the kids in AAOT, and they all became enthused about helping Mrs. Wirtz," he added.

The group originally wanted to give $100 toward the operation. Gagnon had recently been hired as a CKIS sales representative.

He told the group about the society's Match Fund program. AAOT applied for funds from the program and received approval for a dollar-for-dollar match up to $2,000.

Catholic Knights Insurance Society is a 101-year-old fraternal benefit organization headquartered in Milwaukee with 80,000 members in the midwest.

Antioch Food Pantry plans drive, Sept. 18-19

The Antioch Community Food Pantry will be holding a drive for food and funds at the Piggly Wiggly and Jewel stores on Sept. 18 and 19.

President Sharon Oldenburger says members will be at these stores in Antioch from 4 until 6 p.m. on Friday, Sept. 18 and from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. on Saturday, Sept. 19.

A total of 86 food baskets were given out from January through August of this year for an average monthly outlay of $306.94 for food purchased, plus food donated by various community members and organizations.

Families in need of this food were referred by local pastors, the township office, Catholic Charities and individuals who were aware of need.

Many of the recipients are elderly people whose minimum Social Security payments cannot be stretched to cover all expenses; families on Public Aid who must provide lunches for children during the summer months when school hot lunches are not available; those on strike who do not qualify for any other aid; those who are injured or ill or presently 'down on their luck'.

It is the policy of this non-sectarian, ecumenical group to help any who are hungry and indigent.

The Antioch Community Food Pantry presently consists of 20 active members. More members are needed. Anyone interested in joining this group, or anyone knowing of someone in need of food may make contact by calling (312) 395-1259 weekdays from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

In case you missed the Girls' Iceless Hockey registration last weekend, they will again register girls grades one through five on Friday, Sept. 4, from 6 to 9 p.m. and Saturday, Sept. 5, from 9 a.m. to noon at M&S Real Estate, 881 N. Swim team ends best season, A's take first Although Labor Day has still to arrive, the summer season in Antioch is officially over when the Antioch Aqua Center closes and school bells start ringing. These things have become a local reality.

This year, a bigger Antioch Swim Team finished with the best Northern Ill. Swim Conference record ever obtained by local swimmers from the Antioch and southeastern Wisconsin areas.

Even though the A-Team took fourth place in a four-team conference, the B-Team came in second and the team's divers also came in second place in the conference diving championships.

Co-president of the team, Patti Murphy, attributes this year's success to the team's increased membership and the fact that there were many older team members this year than usual and the team seemed to be willing to work hard.

The team only functions as well as its backers, so much credit is also due to the team's sponsor, the State Bank of Antioch, the enthusiasm of the team members and their parents, Antioch Parks and Recreation and the public works staff.

Sportsmen plan bass tournament

The Loon Lake Sportsman's Assn. will hold its first annual Bass Tournament on Sept. 12. This affair will run out of Sterbenz's Little Acres. Call Bob Nelson, (312)356-5064, or John Eaton, (312)395-2179, for more information.

Another event in the planning stages is the second annual Ice Fishing Derby. The date of the event will be advertised later. The sportsmen hope that the weather man will cooperate this year for the derby.

The association also has prize give-aways several times each year.

67-year-old woman wins silver Jeep

The winning names were selected in Amoco's Summer Sweepstakes, and one of the winners is Roxie Jenkins, 67, of Antioch. She won a 1987 Jeep Wrangler, worth over $10,000.

Jenkins filled out an entry blank at the West End Amoco on the corner of Rtes. 173 and 59 in Antioch. Amoco station owner Ken Higgins said Jenkins is a loyal customer who has been coming to his station for years. "Her son and I went to school together, so we go way back," Higgins said.

Jenkins said she never won anything in her life. "I don't know how to drive a stick shift, but I guess I'll have to learn now," she said.

A total of 12 Jeep Wranglers will be given away in northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin. In addition, six trips to Disney World in Orlando and free Amoco gasoline will also be awarded.

The silver Jeep Wranglers are similar to the ones used in Amoco's advertisements for Silver Lead-Free gasoline that also features the Lone Ranger, played by actor Clayton Moore.

Money still the major hurdle to expansion

by CHARLES JOHNSTON
Managing Editor

Members of the Northwest Regional Sanitary System Advisory Committee were told last Thursday that, even under the best of circumstances, no new capacity in the Fox Lake Sewage Treatment Plant will be available until mid-1990.

The plant serves the Round Lake area, Fox Lake, and surrounding unincorporated areas. The Village of Lake Villa is negotiating with the county to tap on to the system also. Antioch is an eligible member, but has not yet tapped on and has no immediate plans to do so.

The plant is near 80 percent capacity now. If it were to run out of capacity before expansion is completed, the communities served by the plant could find themselves on critical review. If that happens, a moratorium on building of any sort could occur until extra capacity is available.

Don Roecker, representative of Donohue Engineering, which is designing the expansion of the plant, reported that by the time all requirements are satisfied and EPA approval has been obtained, it will be mid-1990 before the first increase in capacity is realized and late 1991 before the plant is finished.

Funding is a crucial element of the project, as it will cost a total of $24 million. Several funding options are being pursued. The two most viable, according to Roecker, are through a revolving loan fund set up by the Illinois General Assembly last session or through a federal fund which was set up to provide 100 percent of the replacement cost of failed technology. The technology used in the existing plant in Fox Lake has been designated failed technology by the U.S. Congress. Unfortunately, there is no money in the federal fund right now.

Fox Lake Mayor William Dam proposed, as a last resort, that a bond issue be used to finance the expansion. But Rudy Magna Jr., attorney for the Round Lake Sanitary Dist., said that might not be possible under the current contracts.

"The contracts clearly provide for replacement," Magna said, "but there is no provision to pay for expansion through a rate increase. Since the plant is owned by Fox Lake, such a move could create an opportunity for a taxpayers suit in areas outside the Village of Fox Lake."

Dam, clearly perturbed, said, "I just want to get this thing going. We have to get past the petty disagreements and move forward because everyone needs the capacity."

Charles Johnston of Round Lake, chairman of a subcommittee on alternatives to the present system, reported that his committee was proceeding with research on the costs of forming an independent Northwest Regional Dist. with elected representatives from wards. Such a system would solve technical problems with funding alternatives, he said.

For the impact studies, Johnston asked the Round Lake Sanitary Dist. to provide initial funding. He is also a trustee of the district. The district agreed to pay legal fees to Magna, who was appointed attorney for the committee. Magna will have alternative companies available for interview at the next subcommittee meeting. The district will consider bids on the consulting project after hearing a recommendation from the subcommittee.

Magna has also been instructed to write letters to all eligible members of the subcommittee asking for help in funding the studies.

Such an alternative would be a last resort measure if all other funding avenues dried up.

For now, members of the advisory committee know that the work has to get done, but no one can say with certainty how it will get done and how it is going to be paid for.

Village to pay $15,594 for walk at Rtes. 173, 83

by GLORIA DAVIS

The Antioch Village Board decided to accept the low bid of $15,594 from Benson Electric in Waukegan for the construction of a pedestrian walk at the intersection of Rtes. 173 and 83.

And walk is what anyone who wants to pass out candy or other favors at future parades in the village will be doing.

Another important action taken by the board at its last regular meeting was to agree on the banning of the throwing of candy or anything else from moving vehicles in a parade.

The board discussed the safety factor of children running into the street to get the candy and also the possibility of someone being hurt by flying hard candy.

The board also hired two new village employees. Susan Nitschneider will be the new full time dispatcher at $6.91 per hour plus benefits and Rozanne Magio will be the new school crossing guard at $5.39 an hour.

In other business, the board:

— approved two proclamations; one congratulating Carmel High School on its 25 years of academic excellence and the other proclaiming the important service to the community given by the 911 telephone emergency system.

— Village Clerk Marilyn Sterbenz announced that the municipal lockup report (report on the village jail's condition) will be available for viewing at the village hall.

— announced that this month's village board meetings have been moved up to Sept. 14 and 25.

Edgar announces youth highway safety program

A comprehensive three-pronged youth highway safety initiative was announced by Secretary of State Jim Edgar. The program seeks to instill good traffic safety habits in children and teenagers with a goal of reduced highway injuries and fatalities.

"The program I am announcing today is designed to help raise a new generation of traffic safety conscious children. Safe children today will mean safe drivers tomorrow," Edgar said.

"We should not wait until a 15-year-old begins drivers education to start teaching traffic safety. Lifelong attitudes and habits are formed at a much earlier age. Teaching cautious, courteous and defensive traffic habits should begin as soon as a child is old enough to walk down a sidewalk," Edgar said.

Last year 324 teens and children died on Illinois roads, compared to 285 in 1985. Of the total, 72 were pedestrians, 21 were bicyclists and 231 were drivers or passengers in motor vehicles.

The youth highway initiative will focus on small children through "Project Panda," while all youngsters who ride bicycles will be taught traffic safety through a "Share the Road" program. Young drivers will be taught safe driving habits through a new teen safety program called "Don't Drink and Drive."

The program for small children will center on a costumed character called Pandy Panda. Pandy debuted in public at the Secretary of State's exhibit at the Illinois State Fair.

The first phase of the program will include a coloring book and stickers highlighting the slogan "Play it Safe." A hands-on way for children to learn safety will be provided in a child-size village with buildings, a railroad crossing, stop signs and a working traffic light. Pandy will bring the village to schools, shopping malls and other public places, showing children how to cross streets, obey signals, get on and off a school bus and practice other safety habits.

The second component of the youth safety program, "Share the Road," concerns bicycle safety for children of all ages. Secretary of State bicycle safety rodeo programs will increase to 300 a year from 100 using Secretary of State Police as training instructors. S.O.S. Police will also teach local police how to conduct bicycle rodeos.

Also planned: a revised "Bicycle Rules of the Road" booklet suitable for young children and designed as a form of early drivers education; distribution to schools and libraries of the winning posters in an annual bicycle safety poster contest for children; and a state bicycle safety seminar for educators, law enforcement and others.

The third element of the safety initiative is a new "Don't Drink and Drive" program for teens. It will feature new brochures, posters and public service announcements encouraging safe celebrations of homecoming, prom and graduation. Also planned are teen leadership conferences for students active in groups such as Students Against Driving Drunk.

"We have made progress in making teens aware of the dangers of drinking and driving, but we cannot rest on our achievements when fatality statistics remain disturbingly high," Edgar said. Last year 235 teens were killed in traffic accidents, approximately half of which involved alcohol, Edgar estimated.

Edgar also announced the formation of an Advisory Council on Youth Highway Safety, bringing together business leaders, educators, students, parents, medical professionals and others. It will be chaired by Beverly Magsamen, immediate past president of the Illinois High School and College Drivers Education Association. Magsamen, of Elk Grove Village, is also a drivers education instructor and a mother.

Edgar said he hoped to increase parental involvement by sending letters to the parents of every child who receives a drivers instruction permit. He will also add a section for parents to the Bicycle Rules of the Road.

"Although much attention has been focused on getting tough with drunk drivers and other law breakers, early education is a better, more effective way to improve traffic safety," Edgar said.

Each Additional Family Member			+247		+293	+68

Children from households whose income is at or below the levels shown are eligible for free or reduced price meals.

Application forms are being sent to all homes with a letter to parents or guardians. To apply for free or reduced price meals, households should fill out the form and return it to the school. Additional copies of the application form are available at the principal's office in each school. Households should answer all questions on the form. An application which does not contain all the following information cannot be processed by the school:

- (1) The total household income and the amount and source of income received by each household member (such as wages, child support, etc.) or the household's food stamp case number if the household is on food stamps;
- (2) Names of all household members;
- (3) Social security numbers of all household members 21 years of age or older or the word "NONE" for any adult household member who does not have a social security number; and
- (4) The signature of an adult household member.

"Household" is defined as a group of related or non-related individuals who are not residents of an institution or boarding house, who are living together as one economic unit.

The information provided by the household is confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility and verifying data. Applications may be verified by the school or other officials at any time during the school year.

If children are approved for free or reduced price meal benefits, the household must report to the school increases in household income over $50 per month ($600 per year) and decreases in household size.

Households may apply for benefits at any time during the school year. If a household is not currently eligible but has a decrease in household income, an increase in household size or if a household member becomes unemployed, the household should fill out an application at that time.

In certain cases, foster children are eligible for these benefits regardless of the household's income. If a household has foster children living with them and they wish to apply for free or reduced price meals for them, the household should contact the school for more information.

Under the provisions of the policy, the Superintendent of Schools will review applications and determine eligibility.

Parents or guardians dissatisfied with the ruling of the official may wish to discuss the decision with the determining official on an informal basis. The household also has the right to a fair hearing. This can be done by calling or writing the following official: Mr. Gerard Moons, President, Board of Education, Aptakisic-Tripp School District 102, 21439 North Weiland Road, Priorie View, Illinois 60069, (312) 634-1358. Each school and the District Office have a copy of the complete policy, which may be reviewed by any interested party.

In the operation of the child feeding programs, no child will be discriminated against on the basis of race, color, national origin, age, sex, or handicap. If any member of a household believes they have been discriminated against, they should write immediately to the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

Governor approves several child protection measures

Gov. James Thompson approved several measures last week to strengthen licensing requirements for day care centers, reports State Rep. Dick Klemm (R-Crystal Lake).

Klemm said one of the new laws will require the Dept. of Children and Family Services (DCFS) to investigate all child care centers which operate without a license. Under the provisions of Senate Bill 939, child care operators who do not have a license will be guilty of a Class A misdemeanor. If operation continues without an attempt to obtain a license, the day care operator would be guilty of a business offense punishable by a fine of up to $10,000 each day of the violation.

A second bill signed by the Governor creates a "conditional licensure" option for child care facilities which are not in compliance with DCFS licensing standards, but are not a danger to residents and have a corrective plan to meet DCFS standards within six months. If standards are not met during the term of the conditional license, DCFS will revoke the facility's license.

In the area of child protection, a new law expands the number of state employees required to report suspected cases of child abuse or neglect to the Dept. of Children and Family Services (DCFS).

House Bill 2872 adds Dept. of Rehabilitation Services personnel, including hotline, domestic violence and recreational staff, to the list of mandated reporters. House Bill 478 requires Dept. of Public Aid caseworkers to check on the suitability of the home and status of the health of any child at the home during visits. It also requires reporting evidence of abuse or neglect to DCFS.

Other bills signed by the Governor last week include:

-Day Care Emergency Permits (HB 2162). Creates an "emergency permit" provision for licensed child care facilities that receive children from a child care facility closed temporarily as a result of a natural disaster. The provision will allow DCFS flexibility in the event of a rare occurrence involving a natural disaster like a fire.

-Child Abuse Investigators (SB 21). Creates the Child Protective Investigation and Child Certification Act of 1987, requiring more stringent training, testing and certification of DCFS child protective investigators and specialists.

-Group Day Care Homes (SB 407). Adds a section to the Child Care Act of 1969, creating a new category of day care licensure, the group day care home. Regular day care homes are limited to a maximum of eight children, with the new group day care homes allowing up to 12 children. The new category is an attempt to meet the need in small communities for expanded day care facilities, especially for "latchkey children" needing day care before and after school hours.

-Child Autopsies (HB 464). Clarifies autopsy protocol for coroners and pathologists by requiring those conducting autopsies in suspected child abuse cases to report the finding to DCFS.

-Blood Types (SB 932). Requires that a child's blood type be included on birth certificates in an effort to assist law enforcement authorities in the identification of missing or abducted children.

-Child Support (HB 326). Increase from $1 to $4 the fee an employer may collect from an employee each month to withhold spouse or child support from the employee's paycheck following a court order to do so. The fee is to defray administrative costs, and is optional for employers.

-Child Testimony (HB 523). Permits judges in sex offense trials to exclude from the courtroom anyone without a direct interest in cases where the victim is under the age of 18. Currently, the victim must be under 13 years old for the exclusions to be permitted. News media representatives cannot be excluded from the courtroom.

-Organ Transplants (HB 407). Strengthens and clarifies the immunity provision of the Anatomical Gift Act in an effort to protect physicians, nurses, hospital administrators, family members and others who "act in good faith" from legal liability during the organ donation process.

-Hearing Impaired (HB

2414). Provides for the creation of a Bureau for the Hearing Impaired within the Dept. of Rehabilitation Services to supervise all programs and services for the hearing impaired. Requires the installation of telecommunication devices for use throughout the state by individuals with hearing impairments.

-Medicare Supplemental Policies (SB 922). Provides that a holder of a Medicare supplement policy or certificate has the right to have the premium refunded directly to him or her when the policy or certificate is returned within the examination period.

-Drug Paraphernalia (HB 2328). Provides that any person 18 years of age or older who sells any drug paraphernalia to a person under 18 is guilty of a Class A misdemeanor, which carries a maximum penalty of up to one year imprisonment and a fine of $1,000.

State ceremonies honor Constitution

Fred Geiger, Chief Judge of the 19th Judicial Circuit, announced that state courts across the country will recess simultaneously at 11 a.m. on Sept. 17 for brief ceremonies commemorating the Bicentennial of the signing of the U.S. Constitution.

The nation's Chief Justices, including Illinois Chief Justice William G. Clark, have ordered the presiding judges in each state to recess court at 11 a.m. in their own time zones and read a statement commemorating the federal Constitution, which was signed on Sept. 17, 1787.

This Bicentennial Commemoration is sponsored by the Conference of Chief Justices, which consists of the highest judicial officers of the 50 states, Dist. of Columbia, Puerto Rico, American Samoa, Guam and the Virgin Islands. The Chief Justices chose the simultaneous ceremonies to emphasize the importance of the Constitution to the nation, its democratic form of government, and its system of justice.

The presiding judge of each court will begin the ceremony at 11 a.m. by reading a proclamation from the Chief Justice ordering the recess in commemoration of the 200th anniversary of the signing and ratification of the U.S. Constitution. Following the proclamation, the presiding judge will read a statement acknowledging the Constitution's Bicentennial and reaffirming a commitment to the principles of government enshrined in the Constitution. Some judges may choose to include a response from a member of the bar as part of the program. Courts will reconvene at the conclusion of the ceremony.

Holiday Workshop Scheduled

Groups who donate holiday food baskets to the needy will want to have a representative attend the September meeting of the Food Resource Council. The meeting is scheduled for Monday, Sept. 28 from 9 to 11 a.m. at the Extension Service, 33020 N. Hwy. 45, Grayslake.

Representatives from area churches and agencies will discuss the methods they use when distributing baskets at holiday time. Some of the topics to be covered include: how food and funds for the baskets are solicited and collected; assessing the recipients' needs and preferences; getting volunteer help; problems groups sometimes have and how to solve them.

A special concern of many agencies is the safety of fresh meats given in the food baskets due to lack of refrigeration. Information on giving purchase vouchers instead of fresh meats, including how and where to obtain them, will be shared.

A special survey of food preferences taken at various county sites will be discussed and evaluated. The survey will act as a guide for groups planning on purchasing or requesting specific foods for their baskets.

For more information on the meeting, call Barbara Dahl, Home Economics advisor, Lake County Cooperative Extension Service, at (312) 223-8627.

County Tourism

Lake County tourism is now bringing in $400 million per year and growing. Approximately 11 million people visited the county's 25 major tourist attractions in 1986. Most visitors spend approximately $40 per person while touring the county.

CLC accepts bid to build new kitchen

At its August meeting, the College of Lake County Board of Trustees accepted a low bid from Jenkins and Boller, a Waukegan contractor, to build a kitchen for its new Food Service Program.

The firm submitted a bid of $407,400 to build the 2,000 square foot, fully equipped commercial kitchen. The facility will be used in conjunction with a recently completed 250-seat banquet area to train students in the Food Service Program that began this fall. The targeted completion date for the kitchen is January 1988.

Pres. Daniel LaVista, in his report, noted that the opening week of school was off to a "successful and productive start" and that projections show registration for fall approaching 12,000 students. Official figures for fall enrollment will be available after the tenth day of classes.

LaVista also drew attention to figures estimating that 2,100 people participated in or attended various college programs and events during the month of July.

"What we do doesn't always fall within the credit category," LaVista said. "It's worth noting these examples of the community service activities we're involved in."

The board also approved the selection of Arthur Cobb as the Director of the Small Business Development Center. Cobb, a resident of Wheeling, replaces Barbara Edwards. The center's purpose is to provide support and assistance to Lake County residents starting small businesses.

In addition, the board heard a report by the Enrollment Management Team, a group of college officials who develop strategies for recruitment and retention. The report explained how student groups are targeted through a research-based process and focused on recent efforts and goals for recruiting high school and minority students.

In other action, the board: -adopted the budget for fiscal year 1987-88, with operating funds expenditures totaling $17,794,882.

-accepted the renewal of a Private Industry Council grant for $224,510 that will fund a variety of services for economically disadvantaged residents of Lake County through the JTPA Office of Employment Training.

-accepted a $46,135 grant from the Illinois Community College Board to extend the Office of Employment Training's Comprehensive Board to extend the Office of Employment Training's Comprehensive Adult Employment Grant for building maintenance training.

-accepted a grant from the Illinois State Board of Education for $16,163 that would allow the JTPA Office of Employment Training to establish a youth club for its participants to encourage them to continue their training until they have the skills to acquire meaningful, unsubsidized employment.

-approved the college's participation in the Prairie State 2000 Authority program, which funds the vocational or academic training of eligible individuals.

-authorized the college to pursue a Dept. of Education Title III grant of $1,600,000. If funded, the grant would assist the college in creating processes for evaluating and optimizing program development and help fund a computerized library and microwave telecommunication system.

County bar honors five for service

Bernard Winter

The Volunteer Lawyers Program of the Lake County Bar Assn. has served over 100 clients annually for three years.

Over 120 attorneys participate in various phases of the program. Clients served are those who would otherwise be unable to afford legal services.

All cases referred to Volunteer Lawyers are screened by Prairie State Legal Services staff, in whose office the Volunteer Lawyers director's office is located.

Attorneys who have given outstanding service to the program are honored each year at the Lake County Bar Assn.'s Installation Banquet with a "Good Guy/Gal" hat, symbolizing the spirit of program participants. Winners for 1986-87 were Bernard Winter of Fuqua, Winter, Wysocki & Stiles; Gary Schlesinger; Judge Robert McQueen of Divre, Bollman, Grach & Quade; Karen Krigham of Brigham, Kane & Strubbe; and Larry Dunlap of Dunlap & Brown.

The Volunteer Lawyers program has also produced a series of videocassettes on such topics as wills, legal rights of nursing home residents, consumer fraud, small claims court, financial management for seniors, landlord-tenant relations, guardianship for disabled adults, crime and elderly victims, and dealing with government agencies.

The tapes are available at the Waukegan Public Library, or at the Program office, 415 W. Washington, Suite 002, Waukegan.

The Volunteer Lawyers Program is supported by grants from Prairie State Legal Services, Illinois Lawyers Trust Fund, Baxter Travenol, Walgreens, Abbott, International Mineral & Chemicals, The News-Sun, the Kemper Group, and by Lake County Bar Assn. membership contributions.

Rockenbach: too much fun to quit now

by KAREN WILTBERGER

After 40 years at Rockenbach Chevrolet, Doug Rockenbach knows two sides of the car dealership business—how to be an employed son and how to be a father employer.

Similar to his father, Rockenbach is a fair employer who works hard and expects the same—especially from his sons.

"It's always hard to work with your father," said Rockenbach. "Your father expects more from you than anyone else."

As a teenager, Rockenbach spent a lot of time hanging around the dealership his father founded in 1926. It was there where he worked part-time during school. It was there where he chose his first car—a 1932 Chevy, of course.

But it would be only 18 years that Rockenbach's father would run the family business. In 1944, Bob Rockenbach was tragically killed in a snowplowing accident on Center Street in Grayslake, just blocks away from the dealership.

The business was then bought by two brothers, Rodney and George Rockenbach, who would run the business together until 1957. Rodney and his nephew, Doug, who was a full-time employee since he left the army in 1946, became partners until 1974 when Doug became sole owner of the dealership.

Many years have passed since the days when Rockenbach Chevrolet had a stock of 25 cars that included marmon speedsters and stutz "G" bearcats. In 1986, the dealership sold over 1,800 new and used cars. Today the business has 65 employees and keeps an inventory worth $2.5 million to $3 million.

Knick knacks and family pictures along with Chicago Bear paraphernalia accent Rockenbach's otherwise conservative office. A fading black and white photo of his father at his small Wauconda gas station and car dealership hangs above his neat desk. A watercolor painting of Rockenbach and his 1932 Chevy is nearby. Surrounding shelves are crowded with family pictures, figurines, awards, a Junkyard Dog poster, an autographed picture of Bears player Neal Anderson (who drives a Rockenbach chevy) and 1987 caricatures of Rockenbach and his wife Bonnie, who have been married for 40 years, sitting in what else but matching

1987 budget unbalanced

Illinois Comptroller Roland W. Burris reported the General Funds budget for fiscal 1987 was not balanced, according to the three accounting methods generally used to gauge Illinois' budget balances.

Neither the available balance concept, the budgetary balance concept nor the budget as approved by the General Assembly showed a balanced budget for fiscal 1987, Burris said.

On another matter, the Comptroller reported the Illinois economic picture shows promise in the wake of a weakening of the U.S. dollar. With a decline in the value of the dollar, Illinois' agriculture markets overseas could provide an economic boost to the state's economy.

Regarding fiscal 1987, which ended June 30, Burris reported a revenue increase of $474 million over fiscal 1986.

Burris said average expenditures growth over the last decade has been $519 million $513 million, which includes short-term borrowing.

Over the last three fiscal years, revenues have increased an average of $450 million a year while expenditures have increased on an average of $530 million.

Burris noted that all three accounting measures used to gauge the state's year-end

Budget

budgetary balance indicate fiscal 1987 ended with negative balances.

The Available Balance Concept:

Under the available balance concept, the General Funds budget is considered balanced when the June 30 balance is equal to or more than the June 30 available balance a year earlier.

The available balance June 30, 1986 was $288 million, and the available balance on June 30, 1987 was $154 million. Thus, under this concept, the fiscal '87 budget was not balanced.

The Budgetary Balance Concept:

As published in the 1977 budget book and in all prior budgets, the General Funds budget is considered balanced when the available balance on June 30 is larger or equal to lapse period warrants issued through the end of September.

With the year-end balance at $154 million and lapse period spending estimated at $444 million, the fiscal '87 budget under the budgetary balance concept is $286 million short of balancing.

The Balanced by the General Assembly Concept:

The General Funds budget is balanced under this concept when the amount available for appropriation is equal to or greater than the amount appropriated.

Actual appropriations for fiscal 1987 were $10,556 billion, $513 million more than the amount available for appropriation, thus indicating an unbalanced budget under this concept.

The Illinois Economic Picture:

National economic forecasters appear to have reached a consensus that the current economic expansion, which began in the fourth quarter of 1982, will continue into 1988.

As the nation's economy continues to grow, there is hope on Illinois' horizon that the state's economy will blossom because of a decline in the value of the dollar.

Because Illinois' economy is heavily dependent on agriculture and farm exports, it has been slow to regain economic strength because of the recent high value of the American dollar overseas.

Further, there are indications that prices are beginning to rise. Increased inflation is due in part to the decline of the dollar, which has raised the price of goods imported into the U.S.

Changes in international currency values have also made American goods more price competitive to foreign goods. Thus, Illinois' farm and durable goods manufacturing sectors may benefit in the foreign markets.

Available Balance:

The General Funds available balance on June 30, 1987 was $154 million, $134 million lower than on June 30, 1986.

Revenues

Total General Funds revenue in 12 months of fiscal 1987 were $474 million more than comparable revenues in 12 months of fiscal 1986:

- Income tax receipts up $411 million.
- Short-Term borrowing up $100 million.
- Cigarette tax receipts up $57 million.
- Federal sources up $28 million.
- Inheritance tax receipts up $26 million.
- Sales tax receipts up $19 million.
- Investment income down $33 million.
- Public utility tax receipts down $61 million.
- Transfers in down $72 million.

Expenditures:

Total expenditures from the General Funds in twelve months of fiscal 1987 were $417 million higher than comparable spending in 12 months of fiscal 1986.

Former resident opens mart

Gourmet shoppers and last-minute grocery stoppers will be happy to find The Food Market has opened near HeatherRidge at Rtes. 21 and 120.

The store was opened by a former resident of the area, Jerry Bockwinkel, who owns and operates several high-tech markets in Chicago.

Offering full-line grocery items, fresh meats and fruits, wine and spirits, as well as an extensive selection of specialty food, the Food Market promises the unique as well as the expected.

The store is a 4,550-square foot space featuring a country atmosphere and sophisticated custom equipment to make shopping efficient and pleasant. The store was designed by Bockwinkel, formerly of Mundelein.

The Food Market is the fourth commercial tenant to the Spinney Run Shopping Mall. It will offer customers a fresh fish and cut-to-order meat department, a deli-counter and self-service section featuring sandwich meats, cheese and fresh vegetables, a freshly stocked bakery, an extensive frozen food section, and hundreds of imported foods displayed throughout the store.

"The opportunity to open this store made sense from a business standpoint, but also from a personal point of view. We have so many old friends here."

Rockenbach

Chevrolets.

A car dealership is a risky business, said Rockenbach. "Sometimes you think you have to be nuts to be in this business—you are," he said.

During the recession many car dealerships sunk, but Rockenbach Chevrolet was among those that stayed afloat.

Rockenbach attributes that to an established reputation and his repeat customers.

The dealership is one of the largest businesses in Grayslake and the bulk of Rockenbach's customers keep coming back.

"It used to be that you knew everyone you sold cars to, but now with so many cars it's hard to keep track of everyone," he said.

The growth of Grayslake (50 years ago the population was only 1,200) and more subdivisions and businesses just outside the village have also had a hand in the success of the dealership. In 1985, Rockenbach opened a car wash and a service center a half mile down the road on Rte. 83.

There's no doubt Rockenbach is proud of the family business, but it just may be the "goodies" that keep him coming back.

"I've tried new cars every year since 1949 and there isn't one that I haven't gotten excited about," he said.

For the last six years, Rockenbach has driven corvettes—sometimes as many as four in one year. He usually puts 5,000 to 6,000 miles on the sports car before he switches to a different one. "If anyone wants to buy my corvette, they can buy it—as long as I have another one to get into," he said as his boyish grin started to break through. "That's the fun part about being a car dealer."

As times change, Rockenbach still keeps that small-town flavor. He lives just four blocks from his business and is sometimes recognized during his short commute. "I don't walk to work because when people see me they make fun of me. They think my cars don't run," he said.

It's only fair to point out, too, his big-town flavor. As president of the Chicagoland Chevrolet Dealer's Advertising Association, it was Rockenbach who signed up Chicago Bulls star Michael Jordan for a series of Chevrolet commercials and appearances. Before Jordan received his own corvette, he would borrow Rockenbach's. "Just a few weeks ago, I saw Michael at a golf outing. He came up to me...we're still on a first-name basis. He's a really nice guy," said Rockenbach.

Rockenbach can also take credit for his involvement with the Bears Junk Yard Dogs Chevrolet advertising campaign. This year, he leased cars to six Bear coaches, three Bear scouts and the team photographer.

It doesn't take long to realize that Rockenbach is an avid Bears fan. He watches team practices. He travels with the team to away games a few times a year. He rooted for the team during its 1985 Super Bowl victory. "New Orleans is definitely the best Super Bowl town," he said, remembering the below-zero Super Bowl in Detroit and other Super Bowls.

Though Rockenbach at one time was in more business and civic organizations, he still remains active in about a half dozen, including Lake County Crime Stoppers. He served as past commander of Grayslake American Legion Post 659 and as president of the Lake County Easter Seals Society.

His free time now is devoted to simpler things in life—whether it be a weekend at his Whitewater Lake cottage, a golf outing or a Bears game.

And at 62, Rockenbach plans to stay in the car dealership business.

"I'm having too much fun to quit. Where else could you make a living and not work," he said.

As for the future of Rockenbach Chevrolet, that so far is realized year by year. His son, Gregg, 37, has worked for his dad for 17 years and now runs Rockenbach Chevrolet Three Roads Car Wash. Gary, 33, returned to the family business in April after 10 years and is service director.

"As of now, I don't know. Gary hasn't told me if he wants to stay or not. It may be a family business for years to come."

DOCTOR'S FORUM FEVER

Fever is probably the most common childhood symptom that prompts a call to your physician. Fever is not a disease but a sign of a possible illness—usually secondary to an infection. The normal body temperature is 97.5 - 99 degrees F and it is lowest in the morning after waking up. There is a normal 1-2 degrees F rise towards the afternoon and this is called the diurnal variation of body temperature. Babies less than 6 months old usually do not exhibit this pattern.

Most parents get alarmed by a high temperature especially if their child has a history of convulsion with high fever, a condition called febrile seizures. However, a fever is only one of the factors that could signal the presence of an illness. There is no direct correlation with the height of the fever and severity of the illness. An important question to ask is how sick does my child look. Is the child irritable, cranky, whiny, lethargic or has inconsolable crying? Does he refuse to play, talk, eat or does he look pale, bluish, grayish or flushed? For example, a child may have high fever for 3-4 days in the absence of any other symptoms and then have a rash when the fever goes away. This is an illness called Roseola and without any treatment except anti-fever medicine such as Tylenol, the child gets better. On the opposite side is a child with a normal temperature but is alternately lethargic and irritable, has a bluish rash and then collapses with meningitis (inflammation of the lining of the brain). The point is, if parents feel that their child has a fever and has a "toxic" appearance, then the child needs to have a medical evaluation. After all, mothers still know their children best.

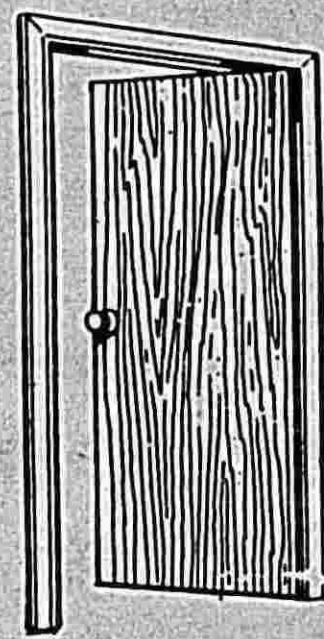

To obtain a true body temperature, certain things need to be observed, such as taking the temperature at bedrest or after physical inactivity for at least 30 minutes. Recent prior intake of cold or hot fluids will result in a false fever or low temperature. There is also a slight increase in body temperature after taking a meal and it will be wise to wait for an hour after meals to take the temperature.

Of all the myriad causes of fever, parents are familiar with infections. In children, respiratory and gastrointestinal diseases may manifest as a nose discharge, cough, sore throat, vomiting and diarrhea. Most can be handled with the usual over-the-counter fever, cold, and cough medicine and by fluid replacement with balanced salt containing solutions. Through experience, parents learn when this respiratory and gastrointestinal conditions are complicated by an ear infection, tonsil congestion, and dehydration. A call to your physician is helpful to obtain further advice or reassurance.

A physician would be able to guide parents on what to observe, give advice on the necessity of a physical examination, laboratory testing and on how to treat the illness. Telephone diagnosis may be hazardous to the health of your child and most physicians will request your child to be examined further if it is suspected that your child has something other than a common childhood illness. Other than infections, fever can be caused by arthritis, cancer, brain hemorrhage, drug reaction, dehydration to name but a few. For parents, if you notice in your child a symptom you cannot explain, understand, or are worried about, help is just fingertips away. Phone first.

Fashion Pageantry, directed again this year by Skip Grisham, with music by Stu Hirsh and his orchestra, is an annual highlight of the fall calendar.

Fashion show chairman Mrs. John Kinsella reports that a few tickets remain. For information, call the fashion show office at (312) 226-1125.

Mammoth King Tusk*Greatest show to thrill
all 'kids of all ages'

Tickets go on sale Monday, Sept. 14, for the all-new 117th edition of Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus, a show marked by superlatives that will astound even veteran circus-goers.

The biggest, the newest and the daringest—including the largest mammal traveling the earth today, the most outrageous display of BMX freestyle biking, and the wild animal wizardry of Gunther Gebel Williams—are all part of this year's Greatest Show On Earth, which opens its Chicago engagement at the Chicago Stadium Tuesday, Oct. 20, through Sunday, Nov. 1, and then moves to Rosemont Horizon for performances beginning Tuesday, Nov. 3 through Sunday, Nov. 15.

Tickets are $10.50, $9, and $7, with $2 off for children under 12 for certain performances. Tickets for the Chicago stadium are on sale at the Stadium Box Office and all Ticketron outlets, including Sears stores; and for the Rosemont Horizon engagement, at the Horizon Box Office and all Ticketmaster outlets, including most Carson Pirie Scott and Sportmart stores. For group discounts, call (312) 951-7683.

To charge tickets by phone, call (312) 853-3636 or 1-800-382-8060 for the Chicago Stadium engagement; call (312) 559-1212 for Rosemont Horizon tickets.

Highlights of the 117th Edition of The Greatest Show On Earth include the most extraordinary animal attraction ever presented—King Tusk, The Crown Jewel of India and the most mammoth mastodon since Jumbo, who died over a century ago. This majestic Indian elephant boasts a pair of titanic tusks, each one more than six-and-one-half feet long and a foot in diameter.

Gunther Gebel-Williams, the world's most acclaimed wild animal trainer, rules over 15 ferocious Bengal tigers, 20 colossal Asian and African elephants, and 12 high-spirited Liberty stallions.

Satin, the Circus' first black aerial act, presents an electrifying new aerial duet, while other high-above-the-arena-floor acts dazzle with daredevilry.

A new twist to the circus is presented by amazing contortionist Rudolph Delmonte, and for the first time in nearly two decades, a seal and sea lion act is part of the show.

Performers from around the globe join unique artists from America's hometown neighborhoods this year, as Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus puts the "hip" in hippodrome with the fantastic freewheeling Team Ringling, the greatest freestyle BMX bikers in the world; the break-dancing bravado of the Live Action Squad; plus punk clowns and "moon-walking" elephants.

All the most beloved Circus attractions are also part of this year's show—breathtaking trapeze flyers, zany clowns, talented teeterboard artists, beautiful dancing showgirls, and tons of glitter, sequins and feathers.

Steam locomotive number 1630 was originally built for the Tzarist government of Russia in 1918. It was never delivered because of the timing of Russian Revolution. It spent its working years on the St. Louis-San Francisco.

Ill. Railway Museum to fete its railfans

The Illinois Railway Museum, in nearby Union, Ill., will hold its Railfan Celebration over the Labor Day Weekend. The three-day festival is the museum's annual showing and operation of newly acquired equipment, recently restored trains, and trains that are not normally used in daily service.

A special guest at this year's festivities will be James Boyd, editor of Railfan & Railroad Magazine, a leading railroad enthusiast publication.

Boyd, who will be conducting the celebration's multiple-flash, night photo sessions on Saturday and Sunday evenings, is one of the nation's better-known railfans.

According to Boyd, a railfan is a person who likes trains. Some railfans like to take pictures of trains, some build model railroads, some just like to ride any train they can find. The term 'railfan' is short for 'railroad fan'.

Catering to this almost universal fondness for old trains, the volunteer workers of the Illinois Railway Museum have built a 56-acre complex, with 10 major buildings housing the collection of nearly 225 locomotives and train cars. The result is one of the nation's largest operating railroad museums.

Featured train rides at the 1987 celebration include a caboose train, streetcar rides, and steam trains on all three days.

The 1936-era Burlington Zephyr will run on Sunday and Monday, and a steam-powered 'Lumberhack's Caboose Train' with an authentic logging engine will be featured on Sunday. 1950's diesel commuter trains will run Saturday and Monday.

Throughout the weekend there will be locomotive cab tours for children accompanied by an adult, and several antique trolley cars and buses will transport visitors between the various display buildings.

All train, trolley and bus rides are free to passengers showing a general admission ticket or membership card. Adult admission is $6.50 per day and children five to 11 pay $2.25.

Family membership for parents and children under 18 is available at the admission booth for $25 and all members are admitted free whenever the museum is open. The grounds open at 10 a.m. each day.

The Illinois Railway Museum is located four miles west of the Marengo exit of the Northwest Tollway (I-90), 33 miles west of the O'Hare/Tri-State Interchange.

The museum is a not-for-profit educational organization with associate membership open to any interested party.

Information may be obtained by calling the museum's Chicago number (312) 262-2266, or the main office (815) 923-4391.

Church sets family film series show

A new film series, "Turn Your Heart Toward Home," has been released by Dr. James Dobson, author of "Focus on the Family." Dobson deals with one of the greatest challenges of today, the protection and strengthening of family relationships.

He emphasizes that society's trend toward humanism, and the undermining influences of television and films, must be counterbalanced by loving parents who instill Christian values in the home.

Every parent should see this inspiring six-part film

'The first film, "A Father Looks Back," will be shown at Christian Life Fellowship, 389 Lake St., Antioch, at 6:30 p.m. on Sunday, Sept. 13. Babysitting will be provided.

Rev. Jeffrey Brussaly extends a cordial invitation to everyone to attend.

Cap collection creates cool ceiling at ACHS

by GLORIA DAVIS

Gordon Wells, superintendent of transportation and maintenance at Antioch High School, almost always has a cap on his head. A habit which necessitates the ownership of quite a few caps.

"I guess wearing caps is part of the farmer in me," says Wells who raised hogs on the side until just a few years ago.

Four years ago his wife, tired of the caps stacked all over the house, threatened to burn all that were not on his head, so Wells took his precious possessions and tacked them over his desk at school.

This was the beginning of a cap collection that has spread all over the ceiling of the huge office.

Everybody who comes in the office seems to catch "cap fever" and his contributors have become myriad, from associates, to salesmen, friends and students.

As of this writing, Wells has over 350 caps of all colors, descriptions and origins. He can wear a different one each day for a year and never wear the same chapeau twice.

"Salesmen come down just to bring me a new cap they just found even when they're not trying to sell me something," says Wells.

Friends and relatives that go on vacation bring him a souvenir cap back and students that graduate come back for a visit laden with a cap from the company they work for.

He has team caps, caps with business logos, caps from far away places like London, joke caps and caps with special sayings on them.

His favorite caps are a retirement one that he keeps hanging right by the door, his caps from Florida, where he hopes to head when he bids ACHS goodbye, his Chicago Bears cap and a U.S. Navy captain's hat given him by Bernie Schaeffen a work associate who is a retired navy man.

This big Chicago Cubs fan has a San Diego Padre's cap that comes with a story. He and a friend went to a Cubs-Padres game and the friend had the effrontery to borrow $5 from Wells to buy a Padres hat. When the old Cubbies came through, the friend made Wells wear the cap out of Wrigley Field.

Although the ceiling is pretty full, Wells is hoping to hit the 500 mark before he retires. He has been at ACHS for 28 years.

Matthew Dreyfuss best part of 'Stakeout'

There are a number of actors and actresses who have made it to the level of 'super star'. Richard Dreyfuss, it is safe to say, is one of them. Since his introduction to the mass audience in George Lucas' 'American Graffiti', Richard Dreyfuss has won the deserved acclaim he enjoys by the character roles he has brought to life. Some of the most memorable would have to include his somewhat nerdy marine biologist of Spielberg's 'Jaws', as well as the peculiar roommate of Neil Simon's 'The Goodbye Girl'. And who of us will ever forget the brilliance he brought to the part of an Indiana lineman in Spielberg's 'Close Encounters Of The Third Kind'. In all of these and more, Dreyfuss has become renowned as the leading character star of the '70's and '80's. With such an exemplary list of credits, one should not be troubled too much to discover him, now and then, in a film that can not possibly do his career justice. 'Stakeout' is just such a film.

I shall not trouble the film goer with reciting the plot (what there is of it) of this, his newest film. I believe that if I simply tell you that it is a 'caper movie', I think you will all be aware and forewarned. It is a caper movie, but the 'capers' are not worth the 2 hour or so wait, just to see Richard Dreyfuss create a new character for us to remember. As with the likes of other superstars of the past, such as Kirk Douglas, Charlton Heston, and even Sir Lawrence Olivier, screen persona is not enough to make a film memorable. As Hitchcock discovered long ago, there must be (or appear to be) something in the box under the table worthy enough to keep an audience on the edge of their combined seats.

As a growing Emilio Estevez fan, I am moved to tell everyone to go see 'Stakeout' just so as not to miss this young and rising actor's every work. But I fear, that even he could not make this film worth the effort of sitting through it.

'Stakeout' is probably going to be seen by at least 20 million people no matter what critics may say, so perhaps we should be content to count it as a 'learning experience' for a soon to be superstar Estevez, and another opportunity for an audience to catch a real superstar, Dreyfuss. For those 20 million, 'Stakeout' is rated R and is playing at local cinemas.

Bill 'Stakeout' entertaining but overcooked

'Stakeout', the cops-and-robbers action film that stars Richard Dreyfuss and Emilio Estevez and is currently a big box-office hit, is a movie that I appreciated in much the same way my three-year old nephew enjoys peanut butter and jelly sandwiches. That is, the best part is in the middle while the crust around the outside edge just isn't quite as good.

The movie tells the story of 2 cops who are assigned to what is considered a low-priority stakeout, keeping an eye on the ex-girlfriend of an escaped convict on the off chance that he might pay her a visit. Of course, it is very unlikely that he will show up there at all (and if you buy that, I have some beachfront property in Utah for sale) so to pass the time, they amuse themselves by engaging in a practical joke war with the cops on the other shift of the stakeout.

Things begin to get complicated when Dreyfuss steps out from behind the camera and into the picture, as he finds himself being irresistibly drawn into an affair with the woman they are watching.

At the heart of the movie is a high-energy, suspenseful and surprisingly funny adventure story. Some of the movie's best moments are the practical joke bits and the ones in which Dreyfuss narrowly escapes blowing the operation and his career with this risky affair. The tension and the humor both escalate as the calls get closer each time.

The movie's "crust", however, includes the fact that more screen time is spent on the prison break than is called for. We know it will succeed or there will be no story. Also, early scenes that introduce us to the main characters seem a bit overdone in the cuteness dept. In a dumb bit about Dreyfuss' sandwich-eating style, it seemed he and Estevez were both mugging for the camera.

Another problem occurs late in the film after everyone thinks the danger has passed (that beach property is still available.) What starts out as a tense, gripping climax with more reversals than a wrestling tournament begins to lose its impact and stretch the limits of credibility by simply going on too long.

The movie's problems occur at the beginning and end. In between, there is a very entertaining movie with commendable performances from its two stars who work very well together.

Critic's Choice In... Lakeland

'Babies' burlesque matter of taste

by GLORIA DAVIS

Having already delved into the realms of nostalgia this year with their production of "My One and Only", William Pullinsi and Anthony D'Angelo of the Candelight Dinner Theater, opened their new version of an old classic form of theater, burlesque with "Sugar Babies" last week.

This revival of the brash musical slapstick comedy, which played to SRO audiences all over the country under the banners of Mickey Rooney and Ann Miller, is chock full of fast paced one and two liners, as well as shaggy dog jokes, familiar musical numbers by Jimmy McHugh and Dorothy Fields and lots of tapping feet.

This form of entertainment, popular in the 1920s, 30s and 40s, is bawdy, dated, and may not appeal to a lot of people. Young people who are not into nostalgia or studying theater art forms, might find the show somewhat hackneyed and boring and the music "old hat."

Others, like those in the opening night audience, will love the old tunes and find a lot of belly laughs to roar over.

Candelight's production of this theater art form is about as good as it gets. Whether or not Pullinsi has a hit on his hands depends on how much burlesque appeals to 1987 theatergoers.

It starts off with a bang, runs into some road hazards in about the middle of the first act because of jokes and skits just a bit too corny, but bounces back nicely after intermission with a funny and musically pleasing second act.

A giant piece of apple pie being served by an aproned mom with a cute baby in one arm and a little dog carrying a pair of slippers in its mouth were all that was missing from a finale that pulls out every patriotic stop, adding a few sexy touches.

Dale Benson and Toni Kaye head an enthusiastic cast with Benson the perfect baggy pantied burlesque comic.

Kaye is an attractive classy professional all the way, who has been on the board's for many an opening night. Her voice is still strong and her legs still flashy, but somehow she seems a little too laid back compared to the rest of the hysterical cast, even in her dance numbers but then maybe she's there for contrast.

The Second Comic, Malcolm Rothman, backs top banana Benson well, and Larry Wyatt is as good a straight man as they come.

The chorines and chorus boys are straight from 42nd St. and if you like legs and tap dancing there's plenty of that ala the smash hit of the same name.

Every show has its scene stealer and Valerie Fagan walks away with much of each scene she appears in, whether she's doing a stand-up or belting a tune.

Right before the rousing finale, all done in sparkling red, white and blue, topped by a gleaming golden Miss Liberty (Kaye), two lovable and audience pleasing Little People, done extremely well by Sarah McNulty and David Gregoire add a charming touch.

Today's musical comedies are much more sophisticated, but "Sugar Babies" reminds us of where it all started. This light hearted nostalgic trip to the days of six shows a day, seven days a week, is a nice one to take, at least once.

WE KNOW HOW TO MAKE THE BOTTOM LINE COUNT FOR YOU

Take college weekend to rethink Constitution

"In framing a government which is to be administered by men over men, the great difficulty is this: you must first enable the government to control the governed; and in the next place oblige it to control itself," according to James Madison in the Federalist Papers (No. 51).

In celebration of the Bicentennial of the United States Constitution, Shimer College offers an opportunity to rethink the meaning of the Constitution in a family weekend with the Shimer Institute on Sept. 12 and 13 at the Illinois Beach Resort and Conference Center, on the lakefront in Zion.

"Probably no document is quoted more and read less than the U.S. Constitution," said Edward Quattrochi of Evanston, director of the Shimer Institute.

"It is a sad commentary on our educational system that few adults have read the founding documents and even fewer the writers who ideas influenced the framers," he said.

Not just another reiteration of historical events, the Shimer Institute blends original source materials and the views of scholars with the dynamics of small group discussions that encourage individuals to develop their own ideas about the meaning and significance of the Constitution.

Resource faculty will include George Anastaplo, Loyola University, nationally recognized as an eminent Constitution scholar; Yates Hafner, Wayne State University, whose area of expertise is John Locke; and Sam Crowl, Ohio University, a Shakespeare scholar.

Morning and afternoon sessions on Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 12 and 13, form the basis of the Shimer Institute. Each conference session features introductory remarks by one of the visiting scholars, small group discussions facilitated by Shimer faculty and a half-hour wrap-up time during which the groups share their ideas.

To encourage family participation, teenagers are welcome to attend the conference sessions at no cost when accompanied by an adult.

A junior program to introduce youngsters ages eight to 12 to the ideas and philosophy of the founding documents has also been planned.

The Illinois Beach Resort and Conference Center, located within Illinois Beach State Park on the shores of Lake Michigan, provide a setting conducive to the reflection generated by the format of the Shimer Institute.

Registration for the Shimer Institute on the Constitution for the first family adult member is $35; the second, $15. Teenagers are invited to participate at no cost.

The junior program is offered at $5 for young people ages eight to 12. Resource readings will be mailed to preregistrants.

For more information, contact Shimer College, P.O. Box A500, Waukegan, 60079, or call (312) 623-8400.

TV ministers to fete toddlers at Calvary Church program

Ed and Sonja Corbin, stars of the "Toddler's Friends" television program, will be appearing at Calvary Temple Christian Center from Sunday to Wednesday, Sept. 13 through 16.

Program times are at 6 p.m. on Sunday and at 7 p.m. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Rev. Corbin is the founder and president of Children's Creative Television, and is the host of the "Toddler's Friends" program. The show is produced in Chicago and is seen in over 60 cities across the country. "Toddler's Friends" has received the Religion in Media award for excellence in children's Christian programming.

The Corbins have been involved in full-time children's ministries for over 13 years. They have travelled as children's evangelists, served as children's pastor in a large Chicagoland church, and have worked as the directors of children's ministries at Channel 38 in Chicago. They are also presently involved in children's missionary work in Africa.

Parents will find their ministry of special interest as they explore such topics as "Marking Your Child for God," "The Effects of Secular Television on the Christian Home," and "Children's Ministries Within the Church and Home."

Sonja Corbin is a superb ventriloquist who will delight the audience with the antics of Dilly Dally Duck, Dizzy Wizzy Duck, and Nelo. She is also a balloon sculptor capable of tying such creations such as Snoopy riding a unicycle, juggling three balls.

Corbin is a Gospel magician and master story teller. Young and old alike will be on the edge of their seat as Corbin, dressed in a circuit rider preacher's outfit, tells the story of Olie Olsen and the grizzly bear.

Everyone is invited to attend this special meeting designed for the entire family. Calvary Temple is located at 134 Monaville Rd. in Lake Villa.

Townsquare Players rehearsing 'Snoopy'

Townsquare Players, Inc., (TSP), a northern Illinois community theatre group performing as a resident company at the historic Woodstock Opera House, launches its 20th season onstage with a lighthearted musical about that world-famous beagle, Snoopy.

"Snoopy", based on the popular comic strip, Peanuts, follows the usual gang through Snoopy's search for doghood and mom...as the travails and treasures of childhood unwind in song and dance.

Directed by TSP president Michael J. Sumski, a resident of Maywood, the subtle humor appreciated by adults will underlie the enchantment and understanding of Snoopy's and Charlie Brown's characters so appreciated by youngsters.

The universality of the themes recurrent in Charles Schultz' approach to growing up is evident in the musical numbers staged in imaginary classrooms, parks, living rooms and the assorted backgrounds of every day.

Regina Belt, producer, also portrays the ascerbic Lucy Van Pelt, nemesis to little boys and dogs while yearning to be a femme fatale.

Her experience as a teacher gives her a rapport for the stomach-churning experiences of getting through the so-called golden years of childhood.

"We chose 'Snoopy' as a back-to-school special for Labor Day weekend," Belt says. "TSP wanted something the whole family could enjoy close to home for one last summer fling. Since the approach to this pilot is very positive and upbeat, we thought it would be a great way for kids to start the school year."

The cast includes others interested in presenting high quality family fare with children especially in mind. Snoopy is played by Christine Predmore, a Crystal Lake resident who teaches at Marian Central High School; Charlie Brown is Dan Smith, principal at St. Mary's School, Woodstock; Woodstock, the little bird, is played by Sue Casagrande, a music teacher in Johnsbury.

David Popp takes on the role of security seeker Linus, while newcomers Jennifer Marsh as sweet little Sally and Becky Pagnoni as street smart Pappermint Patty round out the cast.

The music is under the direction of Ingrid Hanson, who recently played for TSP's "A Chorus Line." Cathy Campbell returns to share her skills as choreographer.

Set design is by Chris Conell; technical director is Rick Amundsen; costume coordination is by Carol Schwan. Veteran stage manager Kathie Commella will function in that capacity.

Performance dates are Sept. 2, 4, 5, 6 and 7. Matinees are scheduled at 2 p.m. on Sept. 5, 6 and 7; curtain time is 8 p.m. on Friday, Sept. 4; 6 p.m. on Sunday, Sept. 6.

For more information or to order tickets, call the Woodstock Opera House Box Office at (815) 385-5300, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays, and noon to 5 p.m. on Saturdays. Tickets are also available through Ticketron.

Nature singer sets workshop combining song and dance

Nationally-known nature singer Bill Brennan will present a teachers' workshop on combining song and dance with science on Saturday, Sept. 12, at the Edward Ryerson Conservation Area in Deerfield.

Beginning at 1 p.m., this free program will provide primary school teachers with tips and tricks to enlivening science learning in the classroom.

Sponsored by the Friends of Ryerson Woods, the program is free, but space is limited and reservations are required. Call (312) 948-7750.

Bill "Billy B." Brennan has performed at numerous school assemblies across the country. He has four children's albums that include such hits as "When My Shoes Are Loose," "Worms!" and "Romp in the Swamp."

In 1980, he was commissioned to create an educational film for children about trees. This resulted in the widely acclaimed "Singing Tree" produced by the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture and Wisconsin Public Television.

His afternoon workshop will be followed by an evening performance for the general public, beginning at 7 p.m. The fee is $2 per person ($1 for Friends of Ryerson Woods) with a $5 maximum fee for families. Call (312) 948-7750 for reservations.

"Ryerson Woods offers a number of training programs for teachers each year," said Don Strenger, president of the Lake County Forest Preserve Dist. "We encourage them to take advantage of this special opportunity to work with a nationally respected educator."

Lake County family 'Y' to have aquatic agenda

The Lake County Family YMCA announces its aquatic program schedule for fall 1987. Registration for members began Aug. 24. Classes will be offered for all ages, from six months through senior citizens.

The SKIPPERS program is for children six months to five years of age. This program is a combination of the old Aquatot program and the Tadpole program. Shrimps, Kippers, Inia and Perch (SKIP) represent the six months to three-year-old program.

These classes are an introduction to the water through play. A parent or guardian must accompany the child in the water. Other topics of instruction include the use of personal flotation devices, boating safety and basic water assists.

Pikes, Eels, Rays and Starfish (PERS) is for children three to five years of age. Parents are not in the water with the children. In these classes, the children learn basic swimming techniques. As they improve, they move onto higher levels. At each level they are challenged to their fullest potential.

The Progressive program is for children six to 14 years of age. There are six levels in the programs: polliwog, for beginners; guppy, advanced beginner; minnow, lower intermediate; fish, intermediate; flying fish, advanced intermediate; and shark, swimmer.

The 'Y' will also offer adult swimming and aquacise classes. The adult swim lessons offered are TOW (Terrified of Water), beginner nad advanced beginner.

The TOW class is for people who want to overcome fears of water. The class goes at a slower rate, and gives individualized attention so the student will be able to overcome his/her inhibitions.

The adult/beginner class is designed to introduce basic swimming skills. The skills included in this class are front float, back float, recovery from front and back floats, rhythmic breathing, and front crawl.

The adult advanced beginner class is designed for people who have some knowledge of basic swimming skills. This class introduces basic safety and rescue skills in addition to more advanced swimming

The 'Y' is also looking for instructors for all classes and certified lifeguards. For more information on classes or available positions, call the YMCA at (312) 360-and live animals as recorded narration carried the action from one scene to the next.

The public is invited to view the Living Bible on the church grounds free of charge. The church is located at the corner of Maple and Douglas Aves. in Libertyville, two blocks west of Rte. 21 and one block north of Rte. 176. For additional information, call the Church Office at (312) 362-2174.

ROCK TRACKS

By Rob Ferrus

There's a good new band on the scene with a sound not very different from The Pretenders, the original Pretenders, that is. They are The Silencers. The Silencers are hard to sum up in one sentence, but Sounds critic Hugh Fiedler came closest when he said, "The image, like the music, is uncluttered and seemingly effortless, although it takes a lot of hard work to make things sound this easy." The Silencers' music certainly isn't simple, but it's pure. It's the result of years of writing and arranging a celtic style of rock and roll blues guitar music with a strong political and emotional bond.

The proof of that emotion is rooted deep within their lyrics, which are laden with heavy political overtones. The first single from their album "A Letter From St. Paul" entitled "Painted Moon," is a modern blues style song about the horrors of the Falklands War. The reasons for writing the song were political and somewhat personal for former Fingerprintz band member Jimmie O'Neill. "I couldn't believe the war was really happening. It was a shock. It made me realize just how horrible things can be in our lifetimes. It never should have happened in the first place."

In a similar political/emotional vein is "Bullets and Blue Eyes." While the song is about a man who buys a gun for his son on his birthday, it is also a celtic love song. "The line between man's inherent violence and love of each other is a fine one."

The Silencers are also a great live stage act. They've opened for The Pretenders around Britain and are currently gearing up for their first U.S. tour. "We've been getting good at live performances," said Jimmie, "and we think America is the perfect place for us. America is music conscious and accessible in terms of style. We're really looking forward to it."

Trip to 'Big Island' can include fireworks

by JIM WARNKEN

President, North Star Travel

When most people think of Hawaii, they conjure up visions of peaceful beaches and gently swaying palms. There is another side to these islands, the one responsible for their existence.

The island of Hawaii, also known as the "Big Island," is home to one of the very few active volcanoes today. All of the Hawaiian Islands are the result of volcanoes. The one still active added 17 acres to Hawaii last November as well as providing one of the best fireworks shows I have ever seen!

This currently active volcano is known as Kilauea. Anyone wishing to observe this geological wonder is fortunately in no danger. I stayed at a small lodge known as the Volcano House which is located right on the rim of Kilauea and has been for about 50 years. Unlike the destructive cone volcanoes such as Mount St. Helens, Etna or Fuji, Kilauea is not prone to catastrophic eruptions. Its geological plumbing releases lava more frequently, via numerous outlets, eliminating the pressures that make for explosive eruptions.

Even the lava flows from Kilauea do not cause major damage. They are not near hotel or resort areas. Lava flows move very slowly giving time for any needed evacuation of the isolated communities in the area of lava flows.

The area around the volcano is a state park. Roads in the park are constantly being rebuilt due to being buried by lava flows as are the numerous hiking trails in the area. Reports of eruptions and lava flows are more of a draw for tourists to watch the fireworks rather than a warning of impending danger.

Kilauea has been erupting quite frequently during the last four years. If you do get a chance to visit Hawaii some time soon, look into a side trip to the "Big Island" and a chance to see nature's fireworks.

FAMILY

Reiser tries film, comedy and now 'My Two Dads'

By Paul Elle

Paul Reiser, who plays Michael Taylor in NBC's new Sunday-night series "My Two Dads," is an unlikely sitcom star. Most TV actors pay their dues with guest shots and supporting roles before graduating to a series. But Reiser comes to the role with experience in virtually every genre but series comedy.

Paul Reiser

Trained as a classical pianist, he worked as a standup comic, then branched out into acting. A chance meeting in a casting office brought him a part in the film "Diner" (1982), which led to roles in the "Beverly Hills Cop" films. And lately, he has hosted "The Tonight Show" and appeared frequently on "Late Night with David Letterman."

With his film and comedy careers booming, why is Reiser doing a weekly series?

"I was reading scripts for a whole bunch of family-oriented things," he says. "I knew that if I had my choice, I didn't want to do a living-room thing, like what Cosby's doing. What appealed to me about this series is that it allows room for lots of family issues."

"My Two Dads" depicts two old friends who are forced to share custody of their late girlfriend's 12-year-old daughter (Staci Keanan), because either one of them might be her father. Greg Evigan plays a laid-back artist, while Reiser plays a pragmatic businessman. "He's career-oriented and self-centered, and then all of a sudden he has a daughter," Reiser says.

While the premise is controversial, NBC has downplayed the paternity aspect of the series, changing the title from "Who's Dad?" to "My Two Dads." And Reiser says the series will raise questions other than that of fatherhood.

"We've got two things going," he explains. "One is friends from college getting back together. Also, the new daughter points up the way the characters have postponed their adulthood."

One industry survey has touted "My Two Dads" as a certain hit - largely because of its time slot. The series will air on Sunday nights following "Family Ties," beginning Sept. 20.

"Following 'Family Ties' will be terrific," Reiser says. "But there's a lot of pressure, because we're guaranteed to have an audience."

No longer 'wasteland'

There was a time when critics could label west Lake County a "cultural wasteland" without rebuttal. You had to go a long way to hear a concert, view serious art or see a play. Save for amateur theatrical groups, the cultural outlook was bleak. That isn't true anymore, thanks to the College of Lake County.

We noted with interest the fall schedule of events at CLC, open to the public, that can be classified under the heading of culture without apology. The fall program offers such diverse events as a five-week showing or kinetic art, old-time storytelling, poetry reading, children's theater and a presentation of a soap opera star. There also will be concerts, film showings, jazz performers and slide lectures. One of the programs will be a unique Sunday afternoon audience "sing-along" performance Nov. 29 of Handel's Messiah.

CLC approaches its mission regarding the visual and performing arts from two directions: one: to provide students and the community with a broad range of educational programs and cultural presentations; two: create an awareness and appreciation for the visual and performing arts in Lake County. We think CLC is succeeding admirably well in both.

In support of these missions, CLC has developed the Community Gallery of Art that is housed in a new glass-enclosed area overlooking a lake on the Grayslake campus. The college has a new 400-seat performance center which also overlooks the willow-surrounded lake.

The fall schedule, running through Dec. 6, is just getting underway. Admission to any of the events is free. Some of the programs are off campus.

No, life hereabouts isn't all crab grass, drainage headaches, stress from land development or the seemingly endless struggle with mounting taxes. There is evidence of the "good life" all around and culture is alive and well at the College of Lake County.

Two Carmels becoming one

Twenty-five years ago Catholic secondary education came to Lake County as Carmel High School for Girls and Carmel High School for Boys opened the doors to two separate-but connected-buildings at a new campus in Mundelein.

Now, a quarter of a century later, after providing exemplary schooling and a Christian education to hundreds of young people, the decision has been made to unify the two schools into a single entity. Parents and friends of the schools drawing enrollment from well beyond the boundaries of Lake County have been informed of the joint decision of the Sisters of Charity of the Blessed Virgin Mary and the Carmelites to form a new corporation, and a Carmel High School Board of Education, within the next few months and go to a single administration by July 1, 1988.

Exciting days lie ahead for Carmel High. As the two principals replied to an obvious question, "Is Carmel going coed?", with a firm "no," Rev. William J. Harry and Sr. Margaret Geraghty point out there will be a number of options for the new Carmel. The two religious orders deliberately did not specify internal structures, leaving those decisions to the new corporation and the new school board to be made up of both religious and lay persons.

A visit Monday by Edward Cardinal Bernardin who brought words of praise and encouragement for the two schools, provides a symbol of renewed dedication to excellence as the two schools unify and head into the next 25 years. We congratulate the two Carmels and wish the future Carmel well as the single school takes shape.

Pool closing hard to swallow

Chalk it up as an unsuccessful experiment by the YMCA of Metropolitan Chicago Board of Managers—running a year-round swimming pool to serve residents of surrounding communities at Camp Duncan YMCA, for all intensive purposes a summer camp for inner city youth.

The unfortunate part is that it took both the Board of Managers and families supporting the pool—most of them from McHenry, Wauconda, Fox Lake, Round Lake and Barrington—almost 20 years to accept the fact that a single-purpose Y located in a somewhat remote rural setting can't support itself.

After a summer-long struggle on the part of Camp Duncan Y pool families to work out operational and financial difficulties, the pool was closed Aug. 15 and the board's decision to close memberships is irrevocable. So the pool located off Rte. 12 near Volo will become part of Duncan's commitment to serve children of the YMCA of Metropolitan Chicago.

Without a doubt, Camp Duncan Y families and swimmers are accepting the board's decision reluctantly and with no little bitterness. Swimming at the Camp Duncan pool has become a part of the life of many people.

The pool touched the lives of many persons. This newspaper, for example, sponsored a trophy to honor annually the outstanding boy swimmer of the team that won national acclaim.

Building and operating an Olympic-size pool with facilities for full competition without the normal resources of a traditional YMCA was a long shot from the start. But the idea caught the fancy of west Lake County civic leaders and a handful of Chicago businessmen who supported funding and building of the pool to serve an area that, despite the fact that it was brimming with recreational lakes, desperately needed a year-round swimming pool. At one time or another, practically every grade school in the area conducted learn-to-swim programs at Camp Duncan Y pool and utilized camp facilities for outdoor education programs.

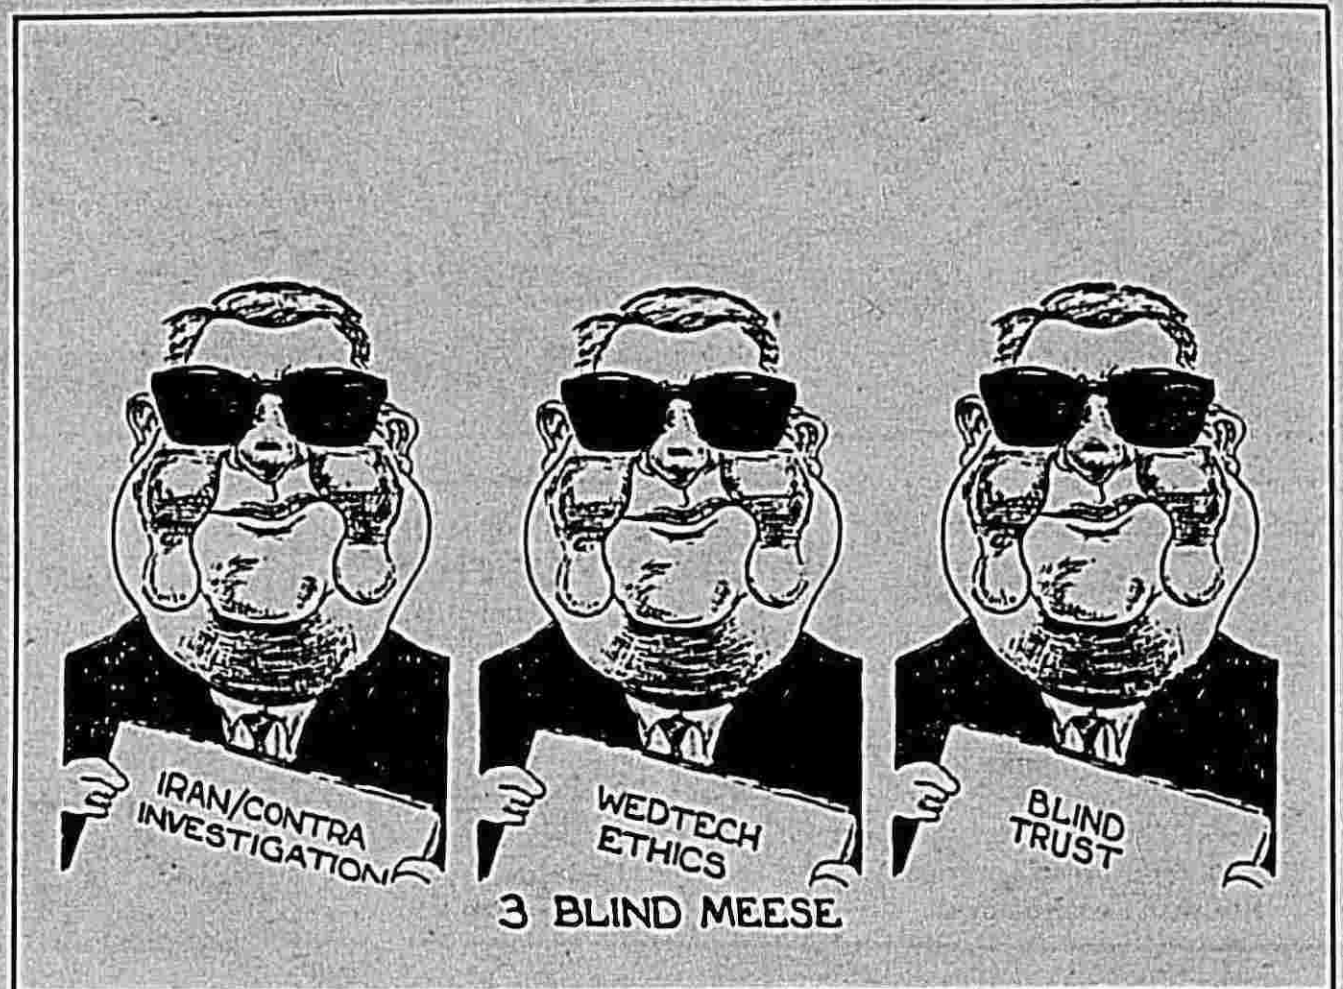

So Camp Duncan YMCA will revert back to its original mission, leaving pleasant memories. Try as we might, we can't help but feel sad.

Our sloppy side showing

American motorists tend to be on the sloppy side. And the Illinois Dept. of Transportation has the facts to prove it.

In a pick-up project over a four-month period, a total of 65,813 bags of debris was collected. That translates into an estimated 3,534 tons or 738 loads put into three-ton trucks and another 264 loads into five-ton trucks. IDOT figures it took a total of 5,951 "man days" to do the housekeeping job along expressways and interstates in the Chicago area. The Lake County Highway Dept. and local township and village roadway maintenance personnel have their own figures.

Add the candy-wrapper tossers to the roadside dumpers who frequent our quiet country roads to cheat the garbage man, and you get a pretty disgusting picture. Maybe our highways and byways would be more scenic if traffic police paid more attention to obnoxious litterers than drivers who nudge over the speed limit a bit. It's a thought.

Viewpoint

Ollie who? We could use less hero worship

by BILL SCHROEDER

All you have to do to liven things up at your favorite pub or put some zest into cocktail conversation is mention the name of Lt. Col. Oliver North. No American has evoked such hard-line opinion—both pro and con—since Gov. George Wallace of Alabama, the racist politician who was No. 1 on the love/hate list (take your choice) when he was a major news figure.

The jury still is out on North and his cohorts in the plan to use Iranian dollars to bankroll the contras. Fortunately, "Olliemania" has subsided. Summer's folk hero has become another figure in government who got carried away with a plan on what he thought was best for our nation, whether it was legal or not.

When you get down to it, selling arms to Iran to get money for the battle in Central America is a pretty far-out deal. What do those guys in Washington eat?

Seeing a mere lieutenant colonel put the big shots in Congress back on their heels is fun, but pro-Ollie people should remember that their favorite marine is a liar and a conniver. The thing that troubles this observer most is the hoola-hoop mentality that projected North as a hero and spawned Ollie for President. Now you have to wonder what the folks out in the hustings are eating!

OK, Oliver North has proved to be brave under fire and he has a combat record, both in Viet Nam and the hearing room, to prove it. But I don't think I could trust Ollie as a reporter for this newspaper or any other kind of job where the boss has to have honest people on the staff. North's military record and the ribbons he wears can't be denied, but as a key figure in the tricky and sensitive world of foreign affairs, Ollie is a loose cannon.

HOT SEAT—At last check, it was still 12 votes against the county building officer on the Lake County Board so embattled Robert Streicher still is in business. Possibly a wobbly 12 the way political winds blow on the County Board, one vote short of a change.

Even with the forces against him in a state of flux, Streicher still is in hot water because the county building department is in a mess. Citizen inquiries and complaints are all but ignored because there is no system to monitor them. The department handles building permits for unincorporated territory and makes the obligatory inspections, but that's about all. And that isn't enough to get the job done, not with all the violations being committed.

MORALE HIGH—The Lake County

Sheriff's Water Patrol is closing out the 1987 boating season on the Chain O'Lakes on a high note with about one month left on the schedule. Patrol Chief Robert "Bob" Trinski can't praise enough his 40-man detail, most of them volunteers who receive only a token salary.

The wily veteran law enforcement officer advanced morale sky high by dubbing the patrol the "Black Sheep Squadron" and obtaining snappy silver grey jackets adorned with an attractive emblem for off-duty wear.

"I can't praise these men enough. The water patrol is no joy ride. Our men are exposed to difficult and dangerous situations all the time. When you're on the water there's no back-up squad to call. You're on your own. How would you like to deal with a boatful of rowdies?"

Trinski told of one incident this summer where an intoxicated boater, handcuffed for his own protection, threw himself overboard. The water patrolman jumped in the water and helped the disoriented boater to safety. In case you're wondering if the water patrol had any activity this summer, preliminary records show more than 800 citations issued as compared to less than 200 all last season.

Chief Trinski and his wife, Shirley, saluted the Black Sheep and their wives at a pool party the other night. By the way, Trinski is advocating that boaters cited for boating under the influence have the DUIs recorded as part of their motor vehicle record to promote safety on the water. Sounds like a good idea.

ONE MAN'S FAMILY—With the 1987 football season opening Friday, mom and pop will be watching to see if all of Bob's hard work pays off for his final varsity year. All those early morning weight lifting sessions, Sunday workouts and two-a-days in summer heat and humidity. Where did the idea come from that football is fun—except for us spectators?

by CHARLES JOHNSTON
Managing Editor

STATE SEN. ADELIN Geo-Karis, who is also Mayor of Zion, is reported to be very upset that Winthrop Harbor, instead of Zion is getting the huge North Point Marina. I talked about this problem with a couple of prominent state legislators at an outing recently.

"We've got to do you hear of a plan to create a major harbor in Zion, complete with colossus, you know where it got started.

SEVERAL WEEKS AGO, Judge Barbara Gilleran-Johnson made headlines by becoming the first sitting judge in the state to serve on a jury. Such a thing became possible when the General Assembly passed a law Defendants must wait longer for their cases to be heard, plaintiffs must wait longer to present their cases, and an already crowded court calendar gets backed up even further.

I'm all for equality, but I'd prefer to keep officers of the court on their end and the rest of us on ours. It serves us all better and quicker.

THIS WEEK, I found I'm going to get a chance to get even with that conniving rascal who calls himself the Sheriff of Lake County.

Both Mickey Babcox and I will be among 10 "celebrity bombers" at the Sept. 13 air show at Campbell Airport. We will be given bags of flour, taken aloft, and try to drop them on a target barrel. For a celebrity bombing, you would think they would get people like Joan Collins, Michael Fox, or Hulk Hogan. But celebrities are in short supply in Lake County, so you're stuck with people like Mickey and me.

Those of you who read this column know that the sheriff robbed me of my rightful glory in the goat-milking contest at the county fair. What hurt most was that a fellow newspaperman from the Daily Herald helped fill Mickey's pail with milk that was not from his goat's udder.

But I should have known. I once attended a rally for Babcox at election time. His advice to supporters was "vote early and vote often." Mickey has never lost an election. Some say he has enough votes to win before balloting begins.

Well I won't be cheated this time. I'm checking out the pilot of the plane to make sure he's not Mickey's brother. I've got a video crew ready to catch any slight of hand the sheriff tries. If none of that works, I've got an ace in the hole. Another contestant, Coroner Barbara Richardson, is the only county official empowered to arrest the sheriff. I'm negotiating a deal with her to come up with some trumped-up charges to disqualify Mickey if all else fails.

All proceeds from the air show will go to support research for United Downs Syndrome. Besides us "celebrities in our own minds," there will be wing walkers, aerial daredevils and many unusual planes. It was a great show last year and it will be a great place to take the family this year. (County board member Fred Popp, who is helping organize this, said if I didn't give it a few plugs I would be the target instead of a bomber.)

WATCH FOR A change in the leadership of the Democratic Party immediately following the primary in March. Rumors abound that some heavy hitters from Cook County have taken a profound interest in Lake County politics.

It seems, the story goes, that some of the powers behind the scene have despaired of holding Cook County Democrats together. In order to forestall erosion of their power in state politics, they have turned their attention to what they believe is the fertile ground in Lake County.

With a large number of Democratic votes in the eastern part of the county and many transplanted Chicagoans in the western suburbs, the boys from downtown figure that with a little work, Lake County could pump out a lot more Democratic votes than it does.

This means it is curtains for Democratic Chairman Jay Ukena, a Waukegan attorney. During Ukena's tenure, Democrats have lost ground even when the Republicans have made serious blunders. Democratic candidates complain that there has been no coordinated campaign efforts under Ukena's direction. As one said, "If you win the Democratic nomination for an office in Lake County, the first thing you have to understand is that you're on your own."

Certainly, Republican headquarters sends out an updated calendar to me each month of all functions and fundraisers for every Republican office holder. Just before each event, I usually get a phone call to remind me of it. The Democrats, on the other hand, seldom send out any information and almost never call. County Clerk Linda Hess and State Rep. John Matijevich always do okay, in large measure because they do their own promo work and do not depend on the party to get it done.

Unfortunately, there are times I do not even know about a Democratic function until it is over.

When Ukena's tenure as chairman is over, the people who will miss him most are Republican Precinct Committeemen.

something for Geo," Rep. A said.

"I've got it," Rep. B said. "You remember the Colossus of Rhodes, one of the seven wonders of the ancient world? Let's give Geo the Colossus of Zion. We can build a harbor with a 70-foot statue of her at the entrance."

"That's great," responded Rep. A. "We can have her waving an ear of roast corn in her right hand to greet incoming boaters."

After doubling over with laughter, Rep. B said to me, "Don't let this get out. If Geo ever finds out, she'll think it's a great idea. Then she'll put the arm on us to sponsor the bill."

I told them the public had to know, but I would keep their identities a secret. So if abolishing all exemptions from jury duty except for working journalists. (Either the legislators appreciated our incredible workload or, having watched us in action, decided there could be no such thing as a fair trial with a jury of journalists.)

The spectacle of a judge serving on a jury touched the egalitarian sentiments of many. I was not, however, impressed.

Laws are designed to provide the greatest good to the greatest number of people while protecting the rights of minorities (philosophical as well as ethnic). With the court system perpetually overloaded with cases, it serves the best interests of no one to abolish the exemption for judges.

Youth crime statistics reveal increasing problem

The question of why adolescence brings on antisocial behavior has taken on a sense of urgency lately. We're not concerned in this column about junior wanting to drive the car or sis wearing a dress considered inappropriate by a parent. These are now considered to be striving toward independence for the age group. Parents will cope with this, as always, on an individual basis with their for that year reveal about 25 percent of urban males have been arrested by age 18 for various crimes. Homicides are the second largest killer of young people in the 15 to 24 age group (according to the Justice Bureau, three times as many as 30 years ago).

Why? What kind of kid does this? Is the cause society's failure? Family failure? Mental illness? Drugs or alcohol? Any early warning signs? Given some early in his life.

-Television violence (an occasional contributor).

-Weapon availability, enhanced when drugs and alcohol are used.

It should be noted that any youngster can have one or more of the above and become a model of decorum. So predictions of future violent behavior remains the greatest area of doubt and concern. What is so frustrating is that after a particularly vicious crime, investigators find that the perpetrator has had in his past many of the seven listed above unnotices, or forgiven since age four!

Musings would add a couple of more common sense danger signs.

If a youngster is a "loner" a family should try to communicate. I remember one of my patients brought to see me by his father for headaches. The father hadn't talked to the boy enough to find out that the thought his family was hitting him on the head and voices were telling him to use the rifle he got for Christmas.

A youngster running with a violent group is a danger. If a youngster, after violence, shows no concern or reason for it, he may be a ticking time bomb.

The medical press suggests doctors should watch for these things. I suggest communicating with adolescents even if it takes a longer visit or a second visit if there is suspicion of a possibly violent youngster. Parents should communicate too.

Children need parental cheering section

by JIM JOHNSON

At almost every level of competition, athletic teams have cheerleaders. The purpose of the cheerleaders is to encourage the crowd to yell positive cheers to the members of the team. The cheerleaders consistently discourage booing or negative chants which might start among the crowd, because cheerleaders know that teams react best to positive reinforcement.

Even when a team is losing badly or playing poorly, the cheerleaders continue to cheer. They them not to do.

How can we help our children without intimidating or upsetting them? First, we must remember that we all learn best by trial and error. Sometimes, it is all right to allow children the freedom to try something their way—even though we know in advance how it will come out. If they fail in their attempt, we don't need to tell them why because they probably already know. Occasionally, however, children do succeed by doing something their own way. And such successes help their confidence levels to soar. Yet, it's difficult to watch our children try so hard without offering our suggestions for accomplishing the task more easily—but it's best that we let them try on their own. We need only to trust that we've established the correct rapport with them. We need to be patient and know that they'll ask for our advice if they need it.

Second, we need to pay close attention to the times when our children do something correctly. For instance, we've asked them repeatedly to make their beds, and finally, one day they do. We need to be sure to say something positive about it. All we need to say is, "I appreciate the fact that you cared about taking the time to make your bed. I know that it is not a high priority on your list of things to do, but it's important to me. Thank you for helping me out that way." Too often, we tell our children when they don't please us. We need to make it part of our nature to tell them when they do.

Third, we must make it clear to our children that we'll never give up on them. They must know that we are going to support them. And we need to be sincere in our intentions.

Fourth, we need to give abundant praise when it is appropriate. If men and women in professional sports need cheerleaders and fans to cheer them on, our children do, too. Let them know that you are among their fans and that you're behind them. The reality of such action can be more beneficial than you ever expect. One thing is certain: Praise will beat criticism every time.

As we enter the 1987-88 school year, parents, grandparents, aunts and uncles, you are encouraged to join teachers and administrators in cheering for and supporting our young people.

never give up. They never stop believing in the team. We can all learn a lesson from this philosophy as it relates to our children.

We all want our children to be the best they can be, and sometimes the answer to solving a dilemma they're having seems quite obvious and simple to us. Yet, when we share our solutions with them by saying, "Why don't you do it this way?" we sometimes meet resistance. Or worse, they may attempt to solve their problems by doing exactly what we tell usual batting average. We are concerned with mounting statistics of violent crime.

Newspapers recount the following murders: three teenage girls lure a foreign visitor to a secluded spot and bludgeon him to death for his wallet; a 16-year-old boy knifes his mother and watches her die on their kitchen floor; two teens throw rocks from an overpass onto a truck below and its driver dies; a 13-year-old stabs to death an elderly elementary school principal; a 15-year-old stabs a 78-year-old Bible teacher 33 times (just to be sure, I guess).

Statistics reveal 450,000 violent crimes occurred in our schools and colleges alone in 1985. Other figures answers we'd save lives and have a more stable society.

The Carnegie Foundation sponsored a symposium on the subject, bringing together some of the experts and researchers in this field. I found their agreements and disagreements frightening as well as enlightening. We desperately need to be able to predict violence. Below are listed apparent contributing factors.

-Alcohol and drugs by removing inhibition, or causing delusions.

-A prior act of violence is a good but imperfect predictor.

-Environment of poverty or home where violence is evident.

-Mental illness, low IQ, brain or neurological defect.

-Sexual abuse in a male

Waukegan East At Carmel

Game day: Sept. 4
Game time: 8 p.m.
Site: McCullough Stadium, Carmel High School.

Preview: Carmel jumped off to a good start last year with a win against Waukegan East and Corsairs are looking to do the same Sept. 4. Keys will be solid defensive performance as a carry-over from last year and which quarterback of three coach Mike Fitzgibbons will choose as starter. Fitzgibbons could go with either seniors Mike King and Jason Smith or junior Thad Sutter. Switching quarterbacks is a possibility.

Niles North At Warren

Game day: Sept. 4
Game time: 8 p.m.
Site: Warren Twp. High School, Gurnee.

Preview: It doesn't start easily for coach always seems to draw the best of the North Suburban the first half of the season. This year is no exception as the Warren defense goes up against one of the best offenses in the league, if not the state. Key for Warren defensive coordinator Rich Mueller is to somehow contain Niles' offense while Warren's offense gets on track. Warren was picked to finish in the middle of the conference, but a big upset early could propel the Blue Devils into the race.

Mundelein At Lake Forest

Game day: Sept. 5
Game time: 2 p.m.
Site: Lake Forest High School.

Preview: It doesn't start easily for coach Gary Heifner's Mustangs. MHS must start the season against one of the league's pre-season favorites in an away contest. Key will be the play of the Mundelein lineman. Seventeen players are more than 200 pounds, giving Mundelein some weight to throw around.

North Chicago At Zion-Benton

Game day: Sept. 5
Game time: 2 p.m.
Site: Zion-Benton High School, 21st & Kenosha, Zion.

Preview: coach Wayne Fiedler makes his debut for the Warhawks after 14 years at St. Viator. Key for Warhawks will be not to get intimidated early on. Upset win could lead to surprising things for North Chicago football fans.

Fenton At Stevenson

Game day: Sept. 4
Game time: 8 p.m.
Site: Stevenson High School, Rte. 22, Prairie View.

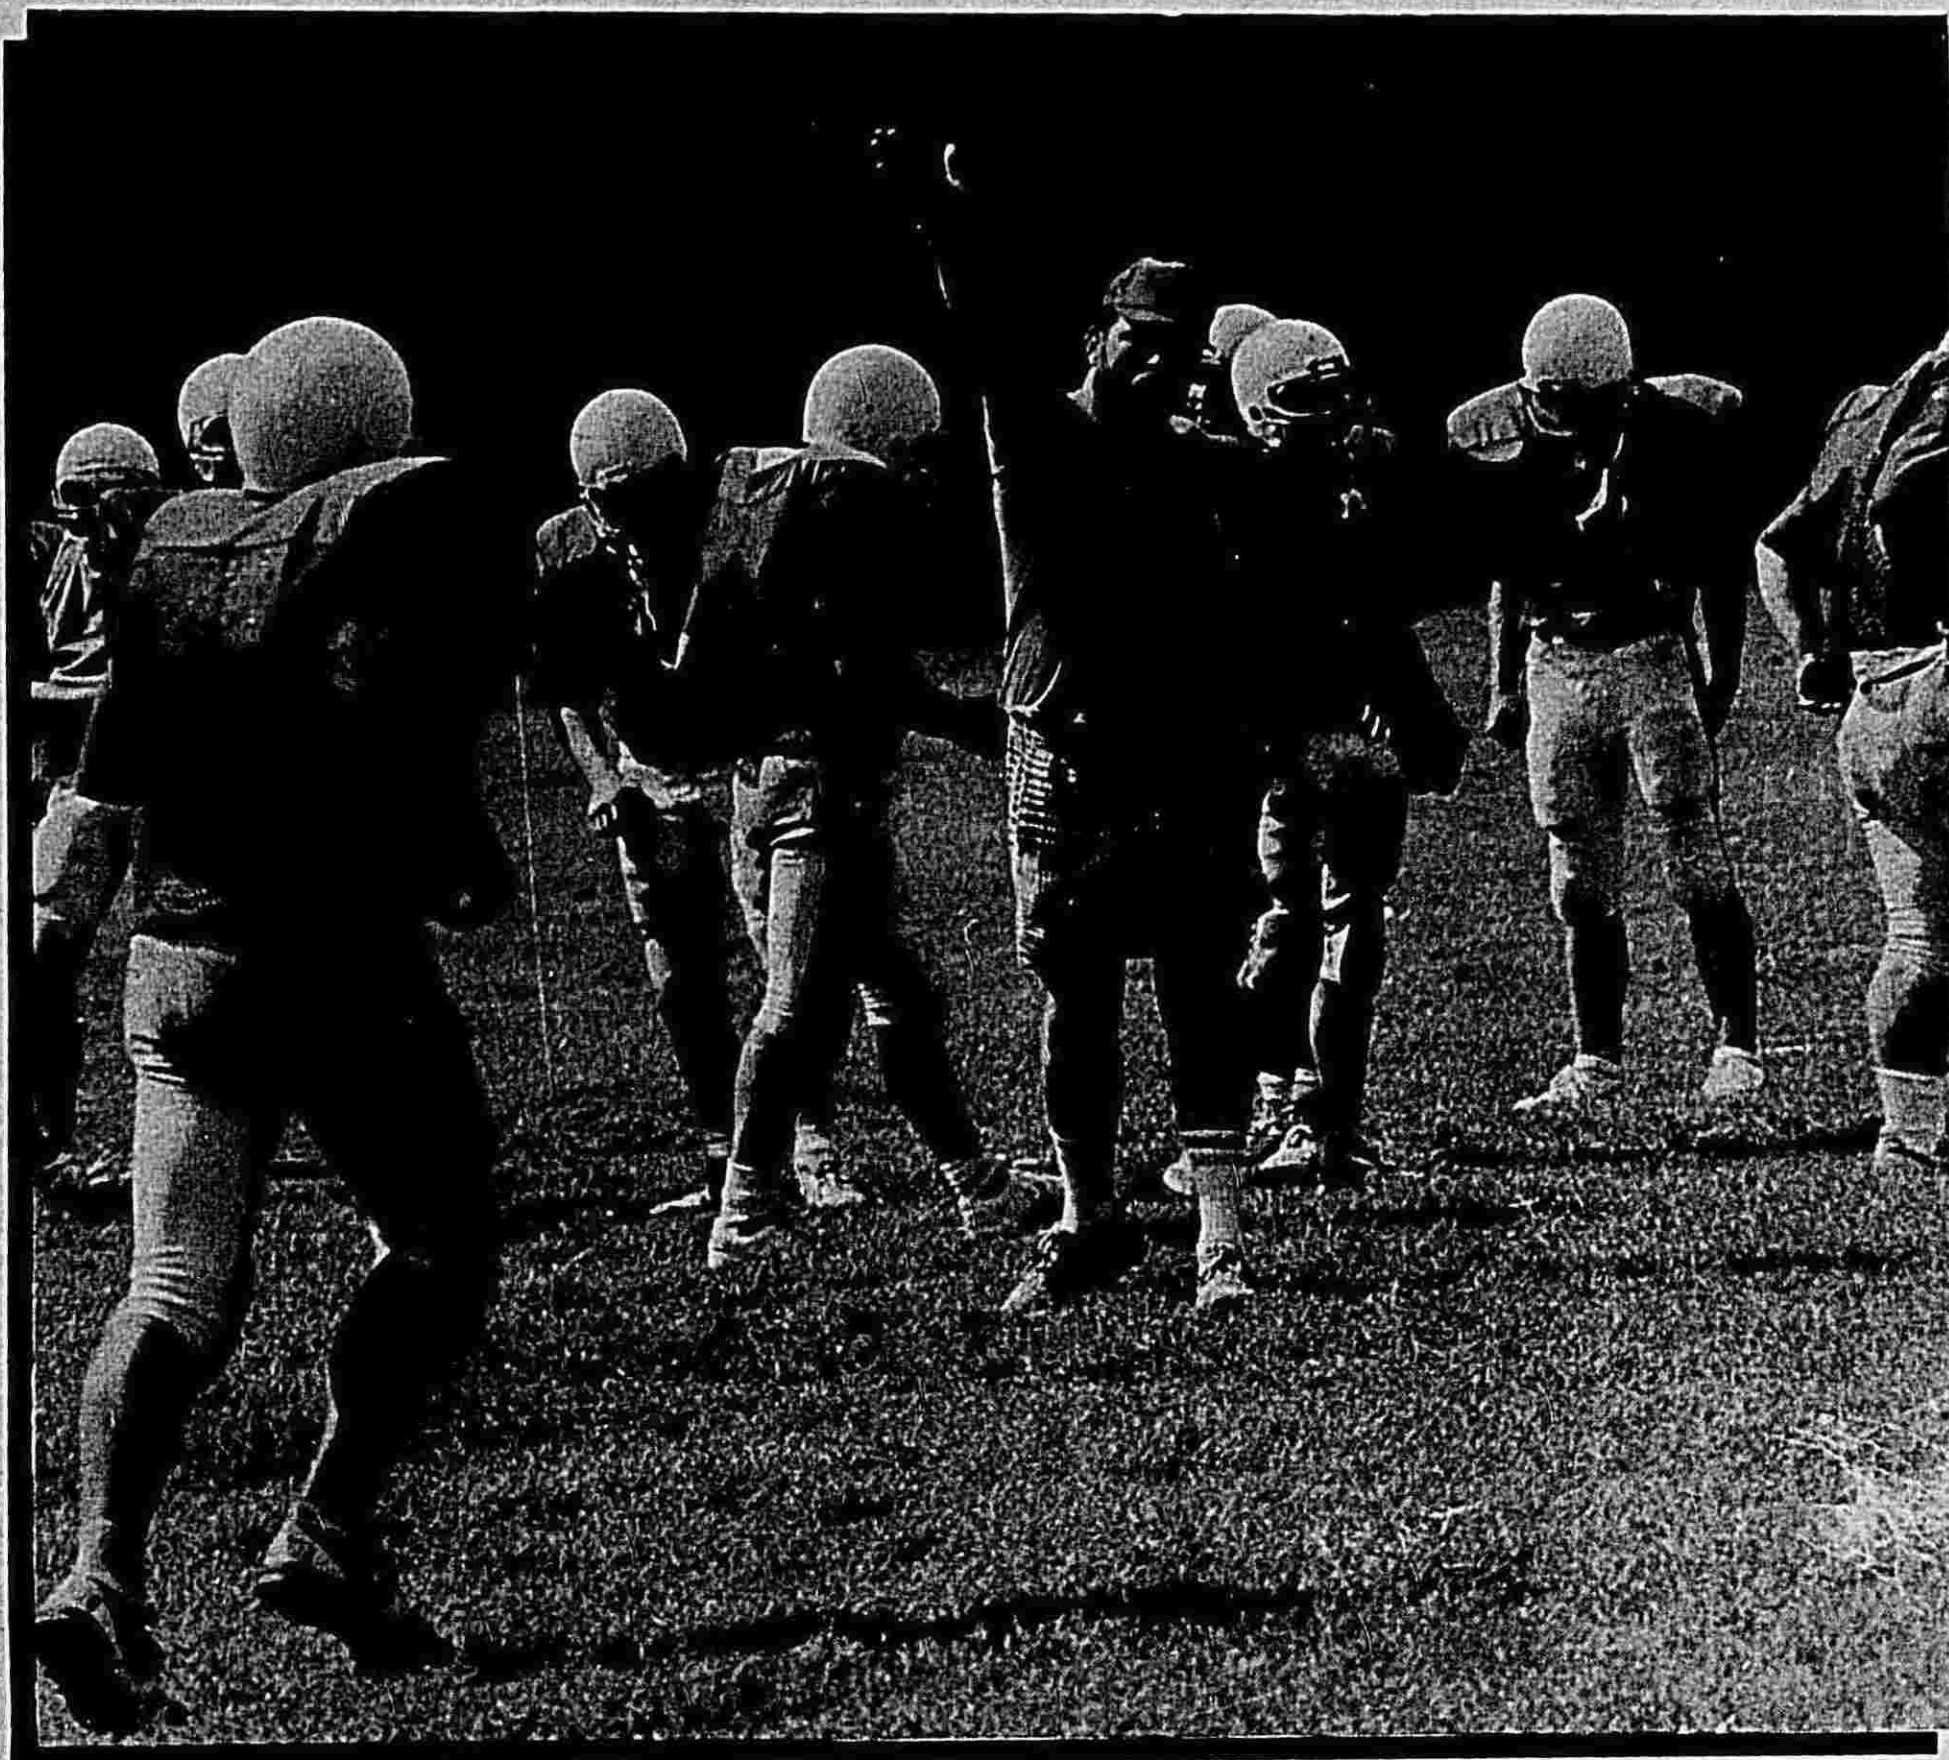

Preview: the Patriots, a playoff team a year ago, will be playing first time under new lights at home field. Key will be coach Bill Mitz' choice for starting QB. D. J. McCullough, Rich Smith and Jim Neary are all vying for spot during pre-season drills.

Libertyville At Antioch

Game Day: Sept. 4
Game time: 2 p.m.
Site: Antioch High School, 1133 Main St.

Preview: Antioch coach Steve Wapon has a young, inexperienced defense to work with and the progress of those players could be key. Sequoia must block well for returning all-North Suburban Conference running back David Wick to be a potent factor. Antioch quarterback Jim Kalm will direct the Sequoia offense and Wapon may open up the passing attack more.

(For more previews, see Page 28)

Let the season begin

Warren Twp. High School defensive coordinator Rich Mueller calls his troops in after one of final practices. Blue Devils' defensive play will be key as Warren hosts Niles North Sept.

Warren's defense faces challenges

It won't take Warren Twp. High School football fans long to know how good or bad their favorite team's defense is.

The Blue Devils will be going up against one of the better offenses in the state in Niles North when Warren kicks off the 1987 football season. The game at Warren High starts at 8 p.m. and is this week's Game of the Week.

The Blue Devils are losing such defensive stalwarts from last year's team such as John Dollenmaier, Jim Rung, Brian Snell and Sam Diamantopolous, and how their replacements progressed could be a key factor.

Offensively, the Blue Devils return with quarter back Derek Shelton, once again the starting signal caller.

Dave Davis and Mike Wagner are expected to see time in the Warren backfield.

Dave Sjog at tight end, a 6-3, 225 pound senior, could be a potent pass catcher.

Warren coach Reggie Hughes knows the importance of a good start in the always rugged North Suburban Conference.

"Our first five games should be a good indicator of how good we are," Hughes said.

Elsewhere, a look at how other area teams were shaping up for their first contest:

At Mundelein, coach Gary Heifner is instituting the second straight year of a unique division of responsibilities for assistants. Instead of strictly varsity and underclass coaches, the assistants are given a specific area in which to become experts. Sophomores practice against the varsity and only break into separate teams for sophomore games.

At Grayslake, it's official that the site of the Rams' home contest Sept. 5 has been switched to Warren High. Although the switch may be of some inconvenience for this week, athletic director and football coach Harold Jahnke said the work being done at GCHS' field will be worth it. New crowns will be placed on the field, a new track installed, bleachers expanded and maintenance improved with an underground sprinkling system, Jahnke said.

At Wauconda, coach Fred Loffredo likes to look at the bright side even after seasons of 1-8. "If I had 50 kids out for the varsity, then I'd be worried," he said. Wauconda has 20 players on its roster this year.

Also at Wauconda, Bulldog fans will once again be seeing the familiar face of 'Super Fan' Gary Uhland on the sidelines. "I just came out to help out," he said. That was in 1978. Uhland said he can remember vividly that Wauconda football was not always down. "I think I set a record from Stevenson to Crystal Lake (to drop off film) after we won in overtime," he said.

With Lake Zurich and Stevenson adding lights this year, the only schools in the area not to play night games are Johnsbury, Grayslake and North Chicago.

Watching drills

Antioch head coach Steve Wapon looks on as his Sequoia perform agility drills during practice. Wapon said he is satisfied with progress his team has made before season starts with game against Libertyville Sept. 5.

Football section next week

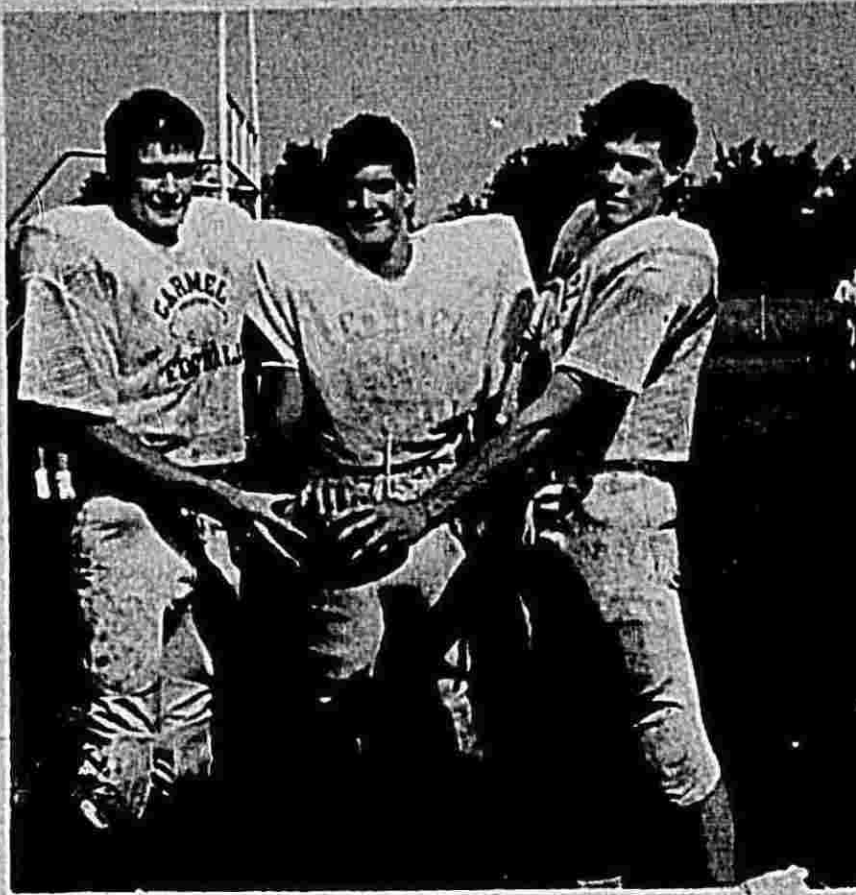

Lakeland area football fans will get the lowdown on how their teams shape up for the 1987 football season in the annual Lakeland Newspapers' Gridiron Review, Sept. 11.

Select Uhrich mentor

Mike Uhrich of Round Lake has been chosen to coach the College of Lake County cross country team. Uhrich, who replaces Joel Pepples, has been with the college for a year as the supervisor of the CLC Physical Education Center and is one of the top distance runners in the Lake County area. He will keep his current position in the Physical Education Center in addition to his coaching duties.

Uhrich, 28, graduated from University of Wisconsin at La Crosse and was a 1982 NAIA All-American in indoor track.

Who's the starter?

Reaching playoffs next goal for improving Carmel

Playing football games on Fridays and Saturdays will not impress the Carmel Corsairs this season.

Playing on Wednesdays, though, will.

"That's our goal - to play on Wednesday, Carmel coach Mike Fitzgibbons said as the Corsairs prepared for the home opener Sept. 4 against Waukegan East.

Playing on Wednesday, of course, would mean that Carmel would be in the IHSA playoffs. After the school's first winning record in more than a decade last year, 5-4, that may not be an impossible task.

"It's made the senior class hungrier. It seems we now have a good mesh between the seniors and juniors," Fitzgibbons said.

One stumbling block in Carmel's way might be the ever-tough East Suburban Catholic Conference. Last year, the Corsairs won their first two games but lost a 3-0 heartbreaker to St. Viator in week three and played catch-up before finishing with the winning mark.

"Carmel has the talent," North Chicago coach Wayne Fiedler, who was St. Viator's defensive coordinator last year, said.

The ESCC figures to have its usual power house teams - St. Viator, Joliet Catholic and Marist fighting for the title.

Fitzgibbons spent much of the pre-season deciding which one of three quarterbacks will get the nod for the season opener at home against East.

Seniors Jason Smith at 5-10, 155 and Mike King at 6-1, 143 are joined by junior Thad Sutter.

"Thad is a lefty and Mike and Jason both do several things well," Fitzgibbons said.

No matter which qb is picked, he will spend at least some of his time handing off to returning all-ESCC running back Donell Foster, a senior.

"Foster is very fast. He probably is a bit faster and stronger than he was last year. He is a very tough kid," Fitzgibbons said.

Foster averaged 15 yards a carry last year in racking up 750 yards.

The head coach said he has "three good fullbacks" hoping to set key blocks for Foster. They are Mike Maciag and Jeff Zgonina, both seniors and junior Kelvin Lambright.

Carmel lost four starters on the offensive line to graduation, but the area should not be a weakness. Mike Reitz, at 6-0, 230 pounds, a senior, will anchor the line along with senior tackle Scott Smith.

Defensively, the linebackers look strong.

"The linebackers are the strength of the team," Fitzgibbons said.

Outside linebacker Bob Schroeder, at 5-9, 173, returns along with fellow senior Chris Drew and junior Steve Brock.

Hirt to give talk

Augie Hirt, 1976 United States Olympic team member and current American racewalking record holder, will be the featured speaker at a joint meeting of the Liberty Walkers Club and the Liberty Road and Track Club at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 8.

Bears' pom-pom squad wins trophies during competitions

The many accomplishments of the summer months may only be the beginning for the Lake Zurich pom-pom squad.

The purpose of the summer practices, camp experiences, and competitions is to train a brand-new squad, just chosen at the end of the 1986-87 school year, to perform as a seasoned group.

Lake Zurich football fans will see that the goal for the most part has been accomplished, as it is difficult to tell a new squad member from the more experienced. Six trophies were won by the Bears in competition throughout the Midwestern states in the summer.

When school opens, the squad will perform at all home football games, and compete in Sept. 26 at a competition hosted by Six Flags Great America.

Performances continue for the community during basketball season when their most serious competition begins. The squad's major goal this year is to advance to the state meet. To meet that goal, the team must enter and win a series of competitions in the Chicago area.

The team is led by captains Kendra Ward and Hollie Schofield. Other seniors on the squad are Shana Matorpulis, Jen Longfield, Danielle Jacobsen, Robyn Taglieri, Robyn Temolet, Kim Thill, Kim Dammon, Alice Kutschat and Allison Roux.

Juniors on the squad are: Becky Bennett, Kim Fielding, Wendy Gabel, Michelle Helms, Jenni

Walinski, Kris Zeisset, April Boado, Jenni Perry and Michelle Pougman.

Jenny Li, Tracy Ong, Michelle Seiwert and Angie Williams are sophomores on the team.

Equipment costs are skyrocketing for football players

JOEL WILTBERGER

I'm sure parents of high school football players know it's costly to have their son play the game. First of all if he has a job he has to quit working, it's not only impractical but virtually impossible for him to work with school, homework, (to keep him eligible to play) and the length of practices every day. I've done some research on the total cost of putting your son on the football field. You might be interested in this information:

- Football camps (local and state)—$266.
- 12 pair underwear (to replace grass stained ones 3/$6)—$24.
- 12 pair socks (to replace mud and grass stained ones, $1.50/pair)—$18.
- 56 quarts Gatorade ($1.39 each)—$77.84.
- Four cans protein supplement ($15.95 each)—$63.80.
- Three bottles Vitamin C ($6 each)—$18.
- 11 weeks of lawn care (too tired from practice and school), $10 per week, $110.

- Football fee—$12.
- Extra equipment not covered by above fee (jock straps, elbow, arm and hand pads, neck collar and mouth pieces)—$71.90.
- Two pairs football shoes (one practice, one game)—$85.
- Football physical—$23.
- Est. additional doctor bills for season (x-rays, colds, sprains, etc.)—$150.
- Heating pad—$29.95.
- 11 extra bags of ice (for sprains, bruises, etc., $1.25 each)—$13.75.
- Sports creme, Ace bandages, athlete's foot spray (for season)—$43.45.
- Whirlpool for tub (for aches and pains)—$159.95.
- Extra lunch money for school (coach says I have to gain weight)—$55.
- 11 weeks of increased groceries at home (coach says I have to gain weight)—$325.
- Clorox II, Spray and Wash, Lysol cleaner

- (to clean practice uniforms)—$38.
- Gum (one pack a day, 40 cents each)—$26.40.
- Walkman (to get mentally ready for the games)—$69.95.
- Added allowance (because he can't work)—$110.
- Team pictures—$12.95.
- Three months insurance on his car (because he can't work)—$180.
- Est. cost of maintenance on his car (because he can't work)—$150.
- Total cost: $2,183.94.

Of course, this does not include the pizzas, hot dogs, cokes and whatever else you somehow have a hand in purchasing during and after games.

Now, if you're going to invest this amount of money to have your son play football, I'm sure the coaching staff of his team would somehow find the time to listen to your suggestions. If they don't, bring this column with you. It may help for them to see the investment you have in their team.

A look around the country:
In the North Suburban Conference, look for Libertyville and Warren to give defending champion Lake Forest a run for the top spot.

The Northwest Suburban should be up for grabs with Marian Central, Marengo and Round Lake in the hunt against last year's champion, Grant.

Congratulations are in order to the division winners of the Ron Romani Tuesday night golf league. Taking home honors were Wally Blake and Wayne Carter ("A" Division), Terry Freestone ("B" Division) and Chuck Maybaum ("C" Division). Rumors abound that Peter Peterson may return next year to challenge for top spot in the "B" division after a year's leave of absence. We will try to keep you up to date on this.

Can Grant continue as top dog in Northwest Suburban?

Can Grant go undefeated again?

The answer is no, at least according to the people who have to battle Mike Rogowski and Co. week in and week out - other Northwest Suburban Conference coaches.

"The conference coaches picked us sixth," Rogowski said as his team took a day off from practice because of heavy rains.

Grant may have dominated the NWSC all-league selections last year, but with the exception of Kevin Frystak, all had "sr" listed under year - meaning it's time for a new beginning at Grant.

"They've been winning all through their careers at Grant. It's a new year.

The Bulldogs were 9-0 last year and perhaps most impressively, surrendered only 14 points in nine league games. It took five weeks before Johnsonburg scored a touchdown against Grant's vaunted defense. In fact, Lake Forest's field goal held up in the Scouts' 3-0 win over Grant in the first round of the playoff game.

The Bulldogs are a young squad this year as even the seniors did not see much playing time with the likes of Mike Kazlauskis, Garry Glauser, Brad Frystak, Mike McDonald, Mitch Myers and Marc Borton ahead of them on the depth chart.

"It's going to take four or five games for us to get all our offense and defensive plans in," Rogowski said.

Jim McGeever saw action at quarterback last year but usually after the game was long since decided.

"Jim is coming along well. We plan on throwing the ball a lot," Rogowski said.

Senior wide receivers Brian Hags and Joe Wach lead the receiving group.

Next to Frystak in the backfield will be a number of different people at different times at fullback. Senior Joe Gore and junior Dave Essler head the group.

"We still have a long ways to go," Rogowski said of his defense.

Senior nose guard John Mazur returns along with end Bob Foster, Rous at linebacker and Frystak in the defensive secondary.

"The only thing I foresee is our defense trying to do too much, trying to make the spectacular plays," Rogowski said.

Elsewhere in the league, most observers agree that Marian Central, a perennial state Class 2a contender, as the favorite along with Marengo, which has most of the top players back from last year. And don't count out Round Lake, where coach Mike Dunn thinks his Panthers, based on pre-season showings, will be in contention in the end.

Lake Zurich will try to improve over last year's season with 26 seniors on the team, of which 21 are varsity letter winners. Head Coach Wayne Kuklinski, who has been with the Bears for more than 10 years, expects the team to play better if the team improves in consistency.

"We had a lot of juniors on the team last year and we made a number of mistakes. We had a problem with consistency. This year there will be many returning players, almost the entire offense and most of the defense, and we should be able to get things down pretty well," Kuklinski said.

Senior Todd Kuklinski, the 6-2 varsity letter winner will be at the helm quarterbacking the Bears for the season.

The season opens on Friday with a night game at Fenton High School, and the Bears will return for their home opener against Cary-

Grove on Sept. 11.

The Bears will have their first conference games against Marian Central and Round Lake and Kuklinski said he expects to get a good idea of the team's capabilities after the two games.

PROSTATE CANCER...A SILENT KILLER

There is an interesting similarity between breast cancer in women and prostate cancer in men. Both are silent killers. Often, by the time you know something is wrong or have detected the problem...it may be too late to control it.

Frightening words, but true. Today, among men 40 and older, death from prostate cancer ranks second only to lung cancer. The solution: at least an annual checkup, whether you feel any discomfort or not.

During a recent community survey we conducted, we received countless requests for a prostate clinic. We have responded. Now, at our new Prostate Center at the Robert R. McCormick University Clinics, we offer an excellent screening program for both prostate cancer and enlarged prostate. Examination and diagnosis by trained specialists is completely confidential.

An enlarged prostate is often accompanied by various forms of recognizable discomfort. Prostate cancer usually is not. Don't wait and say you'll have it done next month. Make that call now. Today. The life you save...may be your own.

Rams volleyball mentor Koch anxious for first season

It probably is a common feeling for any coach who is taking on a new program.

"After three weeks of practice, I can't wait for our first match," Grayslake volleyball coach Tom Koch said last week.

Koch, in his first year as head coach after being an assistant last season, has good reason to be anxious. Nineteen players turned out for the first day of practices and they are anchored by a solid group of seven seniors.

Among the senior returnees are Kristi Blasius, Gail Cesaroni, Kendal Dema, Kimberly Larson, Carol Manahan and Cheryl Sneyd.

Nancy Brenner, who was on Grayslake's state qualifying 800 meter relay team in track last spring, heads a group of eight juniors.

Koch his team looks particularly strong in the front line and serving areas.

"We have six players who can play the front row. We serve 20 serves a practice and our goal is to get in 18 good serves. We've been meeting that and some of them have had 20-for-20s," he said.

Communication, an important factor in volleyball, is another Grayslake plus, according to the coach.

"Another thing we work on is communication," he said.

Koch expects Blasius, Cesaroni and juniors Lori Kwiatkowski and Robin Samuelson to do most of the setting.

The Rams, which reached the regional finals before being eliminated by Antioch last year, will be getting a serious test of their abilities early this season. Teams in the non-conference portion of the schedule include Waukegan West, Carmel and Mundelein. After the start of Northwest Suburban
